TEAM MEETS TRADITIONAL Rivals At Kingston

BAND CONCERT IN HAWLEY ARMORY TONIGHT

A rare concert will be afforded the students in Hawley Armory this evening at 8 o'clock by the popular Boy Scout Band of Willimantic. This band has already achieved success, as it won first prize in this past fall at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield.

Those who attend the recital will be treated to an hour of concert music. After the program a popular selection of dance numbers will be played.

Preparations are being made by the college broadcasting station WCCAT to broadcast the entire program.

To help defray the expenses of the band a small admission fee of twenty-five cents will be charged.

DEBATING CLUB ADMITS FIVE NEW MEMBERS

The following members were admitted to membership in the debating club at a meeting held Wednesday night: Wright Gifford, Ralph Lyman, Henry Hill, Phillip Lesson, and William Krug. The candidates were required to give five minute speeches with the members of the club as an audience. After the tryouts, Dr. Dennis, faculty advisor of the debating club, welcomed the new members with a short address. He stressed the fact that one's chief enjoyment of life lies in the cultivation of one's interests. Thus, anyone interested in debating should put their best efforts into it for the ultimate results. The members have a definite goal to work for as participation in an intercollegiate debate leads to membership in Pi Kappa Delta, the national forensic society. He believes that debating is one of the most beneficial activities on "hill."

It was announced that plans have been completed whereby the meetings of the club will be made more interesting than has been the custom in the past. At every meeting a debate between members of the club will be held. A list of debatable questions has been drawn up from which topics will be chosen. More tryouts will be held at the next meeting of the club.

AGGIES HOPE FOR THIRD SUCCESSIVE WIN

SPECIAL TRAIN TO CARRY AGGIES TO R. I.

Conn. Aggies Leave With Team Tomorrow Morning

Immediately after breakfast tomorrow the entire student body will march to the Eagleville station, where they will board the special train chartered by the students to carry them to Kingston. The train is scheduled to leave at 8:30 and will proceed to New London, where a change of engines will be made. The halt at New London will be short, however, as the train is due to reach Kingston at noon. Aboard the train with the students will be the team, the Student Band, Faculty members, and Alumni.

Arriving at Kingston, the Connecticut team and followers will proceed to the Rhode Island College, where dinner will be served to the visiting Aggies. While on their way to the college grounds, the students will be preceded by the Connecticut Aggie Band. Previous to the game Connecticut's representatives will assemble on the Campus and march to the scene of the game, led by the band.

Immediately after the game the invaders from Connecticut will return to the Kingston station to board the train for the return trip. A stop of sufficient length to allow the students to obtain supper will be made at New London, following which the train will proceed to Willimantic, where buses will be waiting to convey the Aggies back to Storrs.

 Beat Rhode Island
The last half saw both teams playing hard, each team scoring a safety. Crombie, rt, Keating re, O'Connor qb, Reed,

In the third quarter when Rhode Island tried to put from behind the goal line, Wilson broke through and tackled the kicker for a safety. In the last quarter Sahagian fumbled a punt and it rolled behind the goal line before he could recover it. He was immediately tackled, giving Rhode Island a safety.

Rhode Island scored both touchdowns. Island kicked Island line and scored the second touchdown. Dixon, Connecticut's fast backfield man, scored both touchdowns. Starting off with a brand of football that swept the Rhode Island Frosh off their feet, Conn. carried the ball over for the first score of the game within three minutes. Again in the first period, the Nutmeg State tanders ran wild through the Rhode Island line and scored the second touchdown. Dixon, Connecticut's fast backfield man, scored both touchdowns. Connecticut was defeated by a big powerful N. H. eleven on Textile field at Manchester, N. H., last Saturday afternoon. The Aggies held the lead during the first three periods, but due to a few breaks and some good running on the part of Captain O'Connor of N. H., they had a field goal and two touchdowns scored against them in the last ten minutes of play.

Nanfeldt kicked off from Conn. and O'Connor carried it from behind his goal line to his 25 yard line. N. H. rushed the ball to Conn. 45 yard line where they were stopped by the Aggies. O'Connor punted to Moreland, who ran it back 20 yards. Moreland punted to Davis on the first play and it was returned to Conn. 38 yard line. O'Connor and Davis failed to gain and O'Connor punted to Moreland, who was stopped in his tracks. The Aggies' first rush of the game netted 8 yards. Filmer made it first down on the next play. Makofski recovered a fumble on the next play and then Schofield failed to gain. Moreland punted to Davis and then ran down the field and made the tackle, forcing Davis out of bounds on his own 27 yard line. N. H. first chance to score came when on the next play Nicora tossed a long drive to Davis on Connecticut's 5 yard line. Logan replaced Capt. Brink, who had been playing a great game at end. The Aggies with their backs to the wall stopped O'Connor as he attempted to rush through tackle. Nicora made a yard at center. On a trick play Moreland spilled Capt. O'Connor for a 4 yard loss. It was fourth down, nine yards to go. Capt. O'Connor tried a field goal that went short and was picked up by Makofski who carried it back to his 31 yard line. Lorenzzen went in for Johnson at right guard for Conn. Moreland made 4 yards. Makofski made two and Moreland carried it to the 40 yard line with one yard to go for first down. Moreland punted to Davis, who fell on his 30 yard line. Stewart replaced Davis at quarter. Applin went in for Nicora. On the next play Applin attempted a forward, but had the ball knocked from his hand by Nanfeldt, who recovered for Conn. This was the Aggies' first break and they made it good. Eddy replaced.

"HOW TO STUDY"
The Students' Hand-Book of Practical Hints on the Technique of Effective Study

WILLIAM ALLAN BROOKS

A GUIDE containing hundreds of practical hints and short cuts in the economy of learning, to assist students in securing MAXIMUM SCHOLASTIC RESULTS at a minimum cost of time, energy, and fatigue.

ESPECIALLY RECOMMENDED for overworked students and athletes engaged in extra-curricular activities and for average and honor students working for high scholastic achievement.

Some of the Topics Covered

Scientific Shortcuts in Effective The Athlete and His Studies. Study. Diet During Athletic Training.
Preparing for Examinations. How to Study Modern Languages.
Writing Lead Examinations. How to Study Science, Literature.
Brain and Digestion in Relation to etc. etc. Study. etc.
Ways to College? How to Take Lecture and Reading Notes. Developing Concentration and Efficiency. etc.
Advantages and Disadvantages of etc. etc. etc. etc. etc.
gaming. etc.

Why You Need This Guide

"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine." Prof. G. W. Whipple, U. of Michigan. "The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes are overworked." Prof. H. S. Camby, Yale. "Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain." Prof. G. F. Swan, M. T. Johnson, A. M. "To students who have never learnt "How to Study," work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insurmountable obstacle to conti-tuance." Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard. "HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort.

Filmer. Moreland made two on the first. Makofski added two, as the quarter ended. On the first play of the second quarter, Moreland tossed a half pass to Makofski, who made it first down on their 17 yard line. Moreland made two yards and Schofield lost two on the next rush. Moreland dropped back to his 25 yard line and kicked a field goal. It was a beautiful kick and would have carried at least 20 yard back. Nanfeldt kicked off for Conn. and for the remainder of the half the ball was rush d, and kicked back and forth with neither team getting within scoring distance.

At the beginning of the second half Nanfeldt kicked off to N. H., who now had the same starting lineup that began the game. Prince received the ball and was tackled by Filmer. An exchange of punts netted the Aggies a first down on their 20 yard line. Makofski made a couple and then dropped back a nd O'Connor added two more. Then taking the ball for the second time he carried it two yards from the goal line. On a trick play O'Connor went around left end for a touchdown.

Captains O'Connor was the outstanding man for N. H. It would be hard to pick an outstanding man for Conn. as every man on the team played a fine day's work.

THE DEPOSED EDITOR

We learn from the Hartford Times of November 2 that Malcolm Stephenson, former Connecticut student and present editor of "The Tripod," the weekly college paper of Trinity College, has been suspended from college for a month following his criticism of Dean Troxell's chapel address of several weeks ago. The Dean was quoted as saying, "It is our duty in college to disregard the individual and to try to outline a Trinity type." "In commenting in a footnote on a letter published in "The Tripod," in which D. T. Troxell's statement was criticised, Stephenson stated that 'Better a radical with a beard and a bomb than a type—a goose-stepper—a man without brains enough or courage enough to declare himself.'

Stephenson merely answered Dean Troxell in a way that seems to be a perfectly fair criticism, when we consider, as The Times stated, that Dean Troxell had written "The Tripod" and wondered why that publication was dodging the issue in not commenting on his address, which he felt demanded some publicity. He answered the Dean in a letter and signed the letter—AN INDIVIDUAL.

The action of Dean Troxell seems on the surface to be most unjust. Stephenson was accused of dodging the issue, and like most red-blooded American college men, he had to answer the Dean in either agreeing with him, or taking the opposite viewpoint in order to hold the respect of his fellow students. It rather looks as though Dean Troxell either wanted publicity, or else felt that there was a man back of the college paper who was too free in expressing himself.

From the comment of the various newspapers, college papers, even the action of the Trinity student body itself in asking that Stephenson be reinstated, it would seem that perhaps the trouble lies not so much with the deposed editor and his criticism of the Dean, but with the Dean himself, in taking issue with "The Tripod" on a subject which in its essence needed no comment. Dean Troxell has a right to say what he believes, and so has an editor of a paper when his paper has been made a target for an answer to such a statement, the student body standing by as the galaxy. It rather looks as if Dean Troxell was looking to start trouble.

ACTIVITY DAY

The second annual "Activity Day," held in college assembly last Wednesday day, showed improvement over that of last year. Eight activities were presented to the student body in the hour's time with much interest manifested by the students, especially the freshmen. The score of the day was the absence of many of the faculty who either act as honor advisors to the organizations or are affiliated with them in their work.

Connecticut must soon come to a decision, however, in regard to "Activity Day," as shown by the way the speakers had to cut their addresses short towards the last of the hour, would it not be advisable to hold two assembly hours open each year for the activities? By so doing each speaker could present a more interesting side to his activity, and at the same time go into more detail than the speakers did last Wednesday.

SIDELINE GOSSIP

Connecticut 3, New Hampshire 17

It was a tough game to lose, but one we are not ashamed to have lost.

From all reports received it was the best game yet played this year even though the scoring column did not register a Connecticut victory.

However, some of the best victories do not come with the touchdowns; we do not even hear about them but may be more important sometimes than the ones we read about in the headlines.

And some of the men playing against New Hampshire last Saturday were the winners of victories. Even though the final score is against him a man certainly can boast of one kind of a victory, when in a battered condition he continues to play his usual game against a team which has the advantage of reserve material. Our hats are off to the team! They lost to New Hampshire, but still won a great game.

Since the Freshman one year rule was adopted three seasons ago Connecticut yearling teams have annexed each of the three games played against the Rhode Island Freshman.

And the Rhode Island Freshman must again admit the superiority of Connecticut Freshmen football. And may the Varsity from Kingston admit the same to the Connecticut team tomorrow night.

Everybody up with plenty of pep tomorrow.

Remember the train leaves at 12:30. There will be no eight o'clock classes, so there is no excuse for ever sleeping.

We are warned that cuts will be given to anyone missing the train.

Advising double cuts—only this time.

Everyone to Kingston!

No one left on the "Hill" to ring the bell. Well we'll go when we get back, we hope! Let's go!

CONNECTICUT TRAVELS TO RHODE ISLAND TOMORROW

State, but he will make good use of his reserve material so as to save his regulars for the last game of the season with Rensselaer at Troy, N. Y., next Saturday.

The athletic holiday that was declared by President Beach will be good to good advantage, as close to five hundred students and alumni are expected to follow the team to Kingston. The Aggie special will leave Eastville at eight-thirty on Saturday morning with the Aggie rooting and the Varsity football team on board.

The Aggies are the favorites to win over Rhode Island because of their more impressive record. To date they have won from Wesleyan, Tufts, and New Hampshire, while losing to N. Y. U., New Hampshire, Maine, and Mass. Aggies. Rhode Island has had a disastrous season, winning but one game out of six starts. They defeated City College of N. Y., and lost to Brown, Western, Maryland, New Hampshire, Worcester Tech, and Bates.

Rhode Island lost to New Hampshire 26-0, while Connecticut lost to the same team by the score of 17-0, and if comparative scores count for anything the Aggies should win by at least one touchdown.
THE CONNECTICUT CAMPUS

EIGHTEENTH CONTEST WITH R. I. TOMORROW

GAMES DATE BACK TO 1897

Engineers Ahead on Number of Games Won—Two Tie Battles

Rhode Island! To a Connecticut Aggie man that name conjures up visions of bitterly contested football games and desperately fought basketball games, in which Rhode Island and Connecticut Aggie teams battle for supremacy over each other. It is generally conceded that Rhode Island is Connecticut's oldest and most bitter rival.

Football relations with Rhode Island began twenty-eight years ago, when the University of Maine eleven played the Mass. Aggies at Bowdoin 28-14 at Orono, Maine, thereby winning the championship of the Maine state series. Due to an early season cancellation by Stevens Tech, the Mass. Aggies had no game Saturday. Rhode Island was idle Saturday as they played Bates Thursday and lost by a score of 13-0.

New Hampshire showed its championship qualities in its game with C. A. C. by coming from behind in the fourth period to score seventeen firsts in the second period, securing victory over Bentley University 13-0. The rapid development and progress of the University of Maine eleven has furnished one of the surprises of the season in the Pines Tree state. In the Maine state series which involves Cobey, Bates, Bowdoin, and Maine, the state university eleven was not considered a strong contender for championship as the series opened.

The dope was that the Maine team clinched the championship Saturday. Maine has played only one conference game, defeating Conn. Aggies 7 to 0. New Hampshire has yet to be played, however, and the result of that contest will affect the final standing of the conference teams. New Hampshire must win in order to retain its position at the top with Mass. Aggies.

Sung to the tune of "Alabama Bound."

Chorus: Because we're Rhody bound, there'll be no Aggie slackers hanging round. Just spent the last, gone dollar, To get goin' To hear those old Rhode Island sentiments grow. Our men will pile that score We know that now we're going to win once more. And then we'll boller so the team will know.

FRESHMEN MEET MASS. AGGIE, TWO-YEAR TEAM

Coach Alexander's yearlings will play their last game of the season Friday afternoon, when they line up against the Mass. Aggie Two-Year. Men. Mass. Aggie is not a stranger on the Connecticut gridiron, as they have been on the schedules over since the one year rule has been in effect.

Little is known about the opponents this year, and Coach Alexander is taking no chances as to their ability and will send a strong team on the field to meet the invading aggregation. As the Frosh emerged from the Rhode Island game without any injuries, it is probable that the same team will start against Mass. Aggie.

This is not only the last game for the Frosh, but it is the last contest that will be played on Gardner Dow field this fall.

WOMEN'S STUDENT COUNCIL ADMITS NEW MEMBERS

A new step was taken in the progress of the W. S. G. A. when Ruby Gold was elected to the Student Council as representative of the Faculty House girls at a meeting of those girls held Monday night, Nov. 2nd. This is an entirely new idea, but as there are now so many girls living outside of the dormitory, it seems only fair that they should be represented in the girls' government. The duty of the representative to the council and to the girls will be to acquaint the Faculty House members either by records or by meetings with what is taking place in the dormitory and on the council. It is hoped that in this way they will be kept in touch with the rest of the girls, be made to feel more a part of the organization, and will be given a fuller conception of what is expected of them as members of the Woman's Student Organization.

The Junior Girls were granted the privileges for which they had previously petitioned, by Miss M. E. Sprague, Dean of Women, at a meeting called on Wednesday, November 4th, in Holcomb Hall.

These privileges included permission to entertain in Holcomb Hall on Wednesday evening as well as Friday evening; permission to stay out until seven-thirty P. M. instead of seven o'clock; and permission to go down to Willyunchaperoned.

Miss Sprague said that if at any time the Juniors should desire other privileges, they should petition for them, and she would grant them gladly if she thought them to their ultimate advantage.

FRESHMEN WIN FROM SOPHOMORE CO-EDS

The interclass hockey game between the Sophomore and Freshman Co-eds took place Thursday afternoon, November 5. It was an interesting game and both teams showed up remarkably well. On account of darkness, the last half of the game was completed on Friday afternoon. The Freshmen were the victorious ones, when the score made was 1-0 in their favor.

Dr. Gumbart Addresses College Assembly

Dr. Gumbart of the Faculty, in an address given at the Assembly last Wednesday described the development of aircrafts from the earliest attempts of man to fly down to the present development of airplanes. To be successful, an airplane must be able to rise in the air, travel through the air, carry a load, be steered, and land safely on the ground again. The problem that confronts the early flyers was to get a machine that was light enough, said Dr. Gumbart, because the machinery was crude and heavy.

The different types of airships described by Dr. Gumbart were balloons, dirigibles, airplanes, including monoplanes, bi-planes, and tri-planes. The airplane, which is heavier than air, has proved to be the most satisfactory because it can rise quickly from the ground, make great speed in the air, be steered accurately, carry a heavy load, and land safely on the ground again.

Dr. Gumbart's description of an airplane ride was very interesting. He said that when you get into a plane you have peculiar bodily sensations in the vicinity of the diaphragm. Only men with sense of balance are allowed to pilot planes. No other senses will help you while in the air, not even sight, hearing, or feeling. The plane seems to be standing still even while you are traveling sixty to ninety miles an hour. You can see the ground, but you cannot tell how high you are or how fast you are going. The plane goes through the air and slides over the air.

There are currents of air, both horizontal and vertical, which are due to difference in the density of the air. The air over a green field is different than that over a wheat field in which the grain has been cut and crossing a road is like going over a high bump in the road with an automobile.

Accidents are very common. In the twin engine planes there is twice the danger of a single engine plane for if one of the engines stops the plane has to come down. The parachute has now become an auxiliary attachment in the air service and no one would think of going up in an airplane without having a parachute strapped onto his back any more than he would think of going out in a ship without a life-preserver.

Dr. Gumbart believes that the possibilities of air transportation are so important that in the future we shall be able to travel as safely in airplanes as we now travel in automobiles.

WE ARE LOOKING FOR BUSINESS
It was a School of Ag man who, bearing talk of students scoffing at C. E. meetings, went over there looking for something to eat.

If a Co-ed is the answer to an Aggie's prayer, what's the use of praying?

Forget the Yale-Princeton game Saturday and go to Rhode Island. It will be the biggest three dollars' worth of satisfaction you ever received on this vale of tears.

Rev. Dr. Loom H. Sweetland of El Paso, Texas, said: "A girl's natural impulse at the touch of a man is revulsion." We always thought it depended on the man.

Evidently Polonius is the only poet on the Hill. And it is only the intellectual who can appreciate it, from all appearances.

Conklin recently remarked at an A.A. meeting that there was too much friction between the sexes at this college. Wave the olive branch, "Moses," wave the olive branch. However, many people believe what Schopenhauer wrote about women. Look it up in the library.

Many Aggie romances start in the library. The library may be a good social room, but it's a darn poor place to study after 7 p.m.

We wish to warn the faculty member who is trying to create a smoking room for Co-eds in the Main building, that Co-eds are liable to expulsion if caught smoking.

"The undergraduate is taught to stand behind the team, but it is not until he gets out that he learns to stand up in front of something."—Heywood Broun.
