TERMS: One Dollar per Annum
ONCE again we have June and with it the happiest and saddest time of the year for the Senior Class. Happy to think that our studies are successfully finished and that we are to have a real place in the great fight; sad to think of the parting with those classmates, friends and comrades who have made the dear old hill mean what it does to us. Forward we go, ever endeavoring to have a clear perception of those things really worth while and to hold ourselves steadfast remembering our motto—“Habere et tenere.”

Just a word about the Censor. We prefer to think of him as advisor and friend. He has always been ready, in every possible way, to assist the editors in their work, giving freely of his time to read manuscript and correct proofs. Indeed, the degree of success that the magazine has obtained has been largely due to his untiring fidelity.

As this is the last half of the ninth inning no apologies will be made for this issue. If you are satisfied we are glad; if not, tell your troubles to the Discipline Committee; they are used to the troubles of others; as for us, we are through, quit, gone.

THE LOOKOUT Board has chosen the Greek letter “Phi” as their insignia. It is to be awarded to those who are elected to the board, the same as the “C” is to the members of the athletic teams.

This Commencement number marks a change, as all are aware, in the administration of the College. Before the next issue of THE LOOKOUT appears, President Beach will have entered upon the duties of his office. We bid him welcome, and wish him a long, happy, and fortunate term of useful service.

We record with regret the resignation of Professor Graham. We understand that he leaves us to accept the directorship of the Agricultural Department of the Hampton Institute. It is not surprising that this broader field should have proved an irresistible attraction, notwithstanding the success he has met with, both as director of the poultry plant at the College and as a lecturer throughout the state. Our best wishes for continued success go with him.

THE FARM.

The twelve-acre Snow field has been rented and planted one-half to potatoes and one-half to corn. In addition to this, twelve acres of corn have been planted on the College farm.

The one-half acre of alfalfa sown last summer wintered fairly well and promises much more than any of our earlier trials.

About forty acres on East Hill have been taken up and fenced for pasture. This in addition to furnishing more pasture directly connected with the farm barns also joins a fourteen-acre pasture belonging to the Valentine farm, adding this to the East Hill pasture.

A yearling bull of good breeding has been purchased from the Dimock farm, South Coventry.

HORTICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

The corner stone for the Horticultural hall was laid May 28th, Professor Gulley presiding. Professor Gulley spoke for a few minutes about the corner stone and then a short address was given by Charles W. Bonner in regard to the occasion. E. M. Stoddard assisted in placing the articles in the stone which consisted of the following: The latest catalogue; the May number of The Lookout; a Hartford Courant of May 20th; a baseball schedule, "to show the coming generation what fools we mortals be"; list of the trustees; photographs of President Stimson, Professors Beach, Clinton, Gulley, Miss Whitney, E. D. Proudman, and the new greenhouses; card of the contractors and builders; statistics of the class of 1908; list of employees of the Horticultural department; coins, one, five, ten, twenty-five, and fifty cents, each, of latest dates; the addresses of Professor Gulley and C. W. Bonner, and copy of articles put in. Henry Day, who has been longest in the employ of the department, sealed the stone.

Locals

These beautiful spring days entice all from books to wander at will where fancy leads them. Codfish Falls, the Boulders, and many other cool, shady spots known well to all students of C. A. C. are frequently visited. With several, the Sunday afternoon walks are more popular than ever, for the length of the stay of some can easily be counted in days, and these are endeavoring to get all the pleasure possible out of their brief time here. Too soon the opportunity will be past, and only pleasant memories will be left to remind some of us of the many enjoyable times we have had.

All creatures, both large and small, like to be abroad these days, but the small ones must be wary. It is no uncommon sight to see a person suddenly start to run at a rapid rate shouting, "Where is he? There he is over there," and immediately proceeds to jump the fence, rush frantically about and at last stands stock still. The uninformed observer might accuse these people of being slightly unbalanced, but we who are acquainted with the spring term antics of the Junior class, know they are only chasing insects, and this for a good cause.

The visitors at the Cottage during the month of May were Mrs. Friend, of New York; Miss Wilbur, of Abington; Miss Grant, of Mt. Hope; Miss Barrows, of Hartford; Miss Webster, of Berlin; Miss Brush, of New Fairfield; Miss Loveland, of Hartford; Miss Webb, of Milford; Mrs. and Miss Case, of Canton Center; Miss Proctor and Miss Wright.

Miss Bessie Goslee and Miss Nellie Barlow have left College.

Mrs. Frank McLean, of Glastonbury; Rev. H. E. Starr, of Mt.
Carmel; Mrs. Merrill, of Stamford, and Miss Hammond, of Putnam, visited in Storrs recently.

The engagement of Miss Dorothy Olin and Mr. Wooden of the graduating class is announced.

May 23d the choir boys and several invited guests went on a picnic to Codfish Falls.

The Sunday evening service, May 24th, in charge of Dr. Blakeslee, was almost entirely a vesper service. Beside the singing by the choir and congregation, solos were sung by Miss Hicks and Miss Edwards, and a duet by Messrs. R. Storrs and Botsford. Mr. Hungerford played a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Olin.

Miss Mabel Merrick, of Stratford, is taking a course in bookkeeping with Professor Wheeler.

Mr. Hatfield has been inquiring the price of diamonds and invitations. Does he do this for information or merely to satisfy his curiosity? At all events, we wish him the best of success.

Professor and Mrs. Esten entertained the Junior class in bacteriology, and the Cottage girls May 23d.

Mabel's belief in the saying, "The more the merrier," we cannot all agree with, for she includes in this the stage rides to and from Eagleville when the teams are forced to accommodate more than they can comfortably hold.

We have all heard of the Frogs of Windham and fear their roving disposition has been encouraged by some of the amphibia of the present day. A short time ago several reached the Cottage and made a tour of the premises after dark. For particulars regarding the extent of their explorations, ask Marie and Mabel.

Edna—"Oh, dear, I've got so many fellows on a string I don't know what to do."

Classmate—"Cut the string and let them off."

Professor—"Lichens are composed of algae and fungi. Which get the better of the bargain in regard to the food supply?"

Mr. Emmons—"Don't think either would get over fat."

Get a new room-mate for next year; the old one is onto you by this time.

Professor (to Close who has been looking out of the door for some minutes)—"Close, stop looking at that thing out there." Enter—Dr. Lehnert.

Puzzle—"Why did Deac and Montie come back to the dining room?"

Roth—"Professor, will you please tell me what kind of carbon is used in the carburator?"
CONNECTICUT STATE, 2. RHODE ISLAND STATE, 5.

CONNECTICUT was defeated on College field, May 9th, to the tune of 5 to 2. It was the same old story—didn't play well enough to win. The team as a whole was to blame and not any one player. Naturally much interest was shown by the students and faculty because of the defeat received at the same hands in football. For this reason it was very hard to lose, and on our home grounds.

CONNECTICUT, 4. CUSHING ACADEMY, 5.

Connecticut was defeated by Cushing Academy, May 12th, at Ashburnham, Mass. Cushing had a fast battery, Connecticut getting only one hit, while Cushing got six hits. Connecticut started the batting and failed to score. Cushing scored one run in their half of the first inning. In the second inning neither side scored. In the third inning Cushing got one more tally. From this time up to the eighth there was nothing doing, but in the last of the eighth, Cushing got another. In the ninth our team had a little luck. The first man up was Merrill, who got possession of the initial sack on an error. Hood was up next and stopped it with his head. Next came L. Marsh, who walked. With the bases full and Ivers up, things looked bright. Charlie rapped out a nice two-bagger and L. Marsh scored from first. One more run was made in this inning, but Cushing tied in their half and won out in the tenth. It was a nasty day to play ball as the dust was blowing right in the batters’ faces, making it very hard to see the ball. The line-up:

CONNECTICUT, 14. WORCESTER ACADEMY, 12.

Connecticut won from Worcester Academy, in Worcester, Mass., May 13th, in a loose and poorly played game on both sides, as can be seen from the score. The game was not one-sided, but at the same time it was very uninteresting. L. Marsh was put in the box for Connecticut, but was not in good form and was succeeded by Conzelman, who having pitched the day before, was no better. L. Marsh succeeded Conzelman and the game proceeded. It was hit and run all the way through, and our team being the better batters, won the game. Otherwise it would have been another defeat, because Connecticut made nine errors, while Worcester made only five, but our team made twelve hits to their opponents eight. This game served to show that a team like our own, with no facilities for training, cannot stand the strain of a long trip and two games on successive days. Other schools have a place where the men can keep in good physical condition, where they can become hard and capable of enduring hard work. The line-up:

CONNECTICUT STATE, 0. MASSACHUSETTS STATE, 4.

Connecticut received a defeat from Massachusetts State College on May 16th in a very good game; that is, an interesting game to watch. The score should have been 1 to 0 instead of 4 to 0, but it was not as it should have been. However, the home team was up against a bunch of ball players and did fine work to hold them down as they did. Conzelman pitched for Connecticut, and gave us an opportunity to see what he can do when he is obliged to. It was quite interesting to hear some of the remarks made by the Massachusetts men about “Joe.” He is so childish and innocent looking that he deceives everyone. He certainly deceived them. After a number of them had stepped up to the plate and found there was something wrong with the bat the remarks became quite complimentary. A feature of the game was a one-handed catch by Hood, playing left garden for Connecticut, one which caused the hats to come off. Bonner and Burr deserve much credit for leading the cheering. CONNECTICUT STATE, 5. RHODE ISLAND STATE, 2.

In a second game with Rhode Island at Kingston, R. I., May 23d, Connecticut won by the same score that they were beaten by in a previous game. Our team was in good condition and showed their opponents what they could do. L. Marsh pitched well for Connecticut, allowing only four hits, while his opponent allowed seven. Connecticut scored one in the second, Rhode Island scored in the first and second also. In the fifth our team got another tally, tying the score, and three more in the sixth. No more scoring was done. Rhode Island was shut out for seven straight innings. The news of this score caused a great deal of satisfaction at the College. Rhode Island had seven men left on bases and Connecticut had ten men, showing that both teams worked hard to score. When the team arrived, celebrations were in order, consisting of a bonfire and our usual striking night dress parade, led by Brother Case. The line-up:

CONNECTICUT, 5. SPRINGFIELD T. S., 5.

Connecticut played S. T. S. Decoration Day, May 30th, on Windham field, Willimantic. It was to be an exhibition game, and it certainly was, although it was not altogether profitable for our Athletic Association. It was a sample of baseball under difficulties and looked more like water-polo than anything else. A number of times when men were stealing second, they did what was supposed to be sliding, but it was difficult for the spectators to tell whether they were really sliding or swimming. The game was uninteresting except in a humorous way. It was stopped two or three times by showers and was played practically all the time in a drizzling rain. Finally, in the last part of the fifth inning, with the score 4 to 4, and Connecticut at the bat, it was agreed, that if no score was made, the game would be called. The men on both sides were hoping it would thus end, when with Merrill on second, H. Marsh made the only two-bagger of the game and scored him three. Springfield went in and tied the score and then both captains decided to quit. Both pitchers did well.

Connecticut defeated Windham High School in a practice game June 1st, at Storrs. The game was something of a farce, as Connecticut used nineteen men against them. Windham was supposed to have a fast team, as they are leading the Eastern division of the Inter-scholastic League of Connecticut, but their team fielded poorly as a whole and the pitchers were hit hard. Connecticut has but two more games this season—one with Louisiana University and one with the Alumni.

REVIEW OF THE GIRLS' BASKETBALL SEASON.

When early in the fall the question of a basketball team was raised, the girls responded with great enthusiasm. Then followed long hours devoted to practice before the team could be chosen. During the first part of the season constant changes in the team were made in order to put the right player in the right place. At last, this matter was settled, and most of the games were played with the following line-up:

Miss Jackson, right forward.
Miss Goslee, center, captain.
Miss Barlow, right guard.
Miss Beers, substitute.

The first game of the season was played with Killingly High on the home floor, our team winning by a large number of points. Very much encouraged by this beginning, the girls did some strenuous practicing to prepare for meeting stronger teams.

January 17th the girls left Storrs for Cushing Academy; the next day they played Worcester, losing both games. The Cushing game was well played and everything was bright for us until one of our strongest players received an injury which kept her from playing the remainder of the game. Thus crippled, the team could only do its best to keep Cushing from scoring. Worcester was played under trying circumstances as the whole team was tired with its hard game of the day before.

The next game was the last played on the home floor and Worcester was the opponent. The girls played well but lost the game.

When the girls started for Middletown, February 7th, they still had a good stock of courage left and this time they were successful.

Our girls played Wickam Rise, one of the strongest teams in the State, on February 11th.

Although we did not win the majority of games, when we remember that the teams played were all strong and had had in some instances two or three years of training, and as this was the first season that a number of our girls had ever played, we are proud of the work done by the girls' basketball team of 1907-1908.
At the beginning of the school there was $52.00 in the treasury and payment of Athletic Association dues among the students was extremely prompt so that a good sum was on hand to start the football team. The winter term, while not so prosperous, yet was fairly successful. The cause of the lack of prosperity, perhaps due to the depression in financial circles, ready money being rather difficult to obtain. The spring term has not been very good. It was rather difficult for the baseball team to scrape through the season.

With the beginning of the fall term the new system of payment, whereby two dollars was payable during the fall term, two dollars in the winter term, and one dollar in the spring term, was in order. This change from the old plan, of paying five dollars at the beginning of the year was made in order that those that felt unable to pay up five dollars in a lump might find it easier if that sum were divided into three payments. However, it is not permissible that any student omit payment of any terms dues and pay the remainder and become a member of the Athletic Association. The fee for membership to this association still remains five dollars.

Some misunderstanding arose as the result of this change and a number of the students omitted one or two terms dues expecting still to be members of the association. If this had been permitted there is no doubt that the association would have gained quite a little. But those having charge of the matter, looking ahead, saw that if allowed to pass this year the number of students who would endeavor to work the same game next year would be greatly increased. Therefore, the constitution of the association was left intact.

The writer's attention has been called to the fact that some of the students consider it a very smart trick to beat the Athletic Association by slipping in the games without payment. The petty meanness of such an action causes the writer to hope none of the readers of this article are among this number. Are you?

In the future, as well as in the past, the Athletic Association needs the support of every individual among the student body. Therefore, let us hope that in the future years the support of the association will be such that there will be no cause for the collector to tax his brains as to how he shall obtain more money, nor for the manager to set up nights thinking how he may decrease expenses.
REVIEW OF ATHLETICS.

The athletic season at the Connecticut Agricultural College is past and our showing has been of a fair order. We have left off the easier teams from our schedules and taken on harder ones in their place, and this latter fact may, in some measure, be responsible for the games lost, and while one may at first feel somewhat dissatisfied with the showing made, yet a comparison between the schedules of this year and those of former years will convince one that the teams have done well.

The opening of the football season found us with considerable material on hand, but the later development of the season failed to bring them up to as high a standard as was expected. The first game was played with Cushing, Cushing winning by a score of 25 to 0, mostly due to the costly fumbles on Connecticut's part. The first game which Connecticut won was that with Norwich, played November 9th, with a score of 39 to 0. The following Saturday, Connecticut defeated New London A. C., 28 to 0. The final and most important game was played at Kingston, R. I., against the Rhode Island State College, Connecticut losing. Thus ended the football season in which the majority of the games seem to have been lost through lack of stick-to-itiveness, lack of head work and unity among the members of the team.

The basketball team turned out somewhat better than was expected, a fairly good team being developed from raw material. The first game was played at Hartford against Trinity College and Connecticut was defeated. Following this, Connecticut defeated the Willimantic Y. M. C. A., and, later, the Cyclers Club of Willimantic. On the western trip, Connecticut defeated Ridge, Manor, and Gunnery. Connecticut was defeated by Rhode Island, at Kingston, but handily won the return game played at Storrs. The season ended with defeats by Williston and Worcester Tech., at Storrs.

The opening of the baseball season found us with apparently as good a team as has ever been turned out at Connecticut. The first two games were won from the Rockville Volunteers, and we were defeated by Williston, Springfield Training School, M. A. C., and Rhode Island State, all by close scores; and here again lack of headwork at critical moments seems to have been the cause. Connecticut won the return game with Rhode Island State at Kingston by a score of 5 to 2. She played Springfield Training School in Willimantic on Decoration Day, the game being called after five innings because of rain, the score standing 5 to 5.

The Students' Organization

Secretary and Treasurer, R. B. Briggs.

The Students' Organization of The Connecticut Agricultural College might be termed a heterogeneous conglomeration of dissimilar elements.

Every student in the College may be a member, if he or she keep his or her taxes paid. That is one of the fine things about the organization. There are no duties beyond the paying of sundry slight taxes. If one has no interest in what is being done by the organization he does not pay his taxes. If later a question of great note is to be decided, one which concerns his society or his class, up he comes with all his back taxes and is immediately an active member, usually having more to say than those who keep their taxes paid and go to the meetings.

The president calls the meeting to order and immediately cocks his feet upon the desk and settles himself comfortably for the meeting. The secretary and treasurer sits at his table and looks wise and businesslike, until someone hits him in the eye with a spit-ball, when he loses his dignity and descends to—perhaps we had better say—language. When these formalities are over the meeting is, in the language of Christian Endeavor presidents, "open to all, and all take part." In many ways a meeting of the Students' Organization and a C. E. meeting are similar. Of course, there never was a girl president of the Students' Organization, and never will be; she couldn't hold down the chair in the accepted manner.

It must be known that the Students' Organization is very powerful. It even dares to send committees to those in high places, such as the steward, the president, and to the board of trustees. These last are consulted on minor matters only. Matters of great note, such as suggestions as to the price of board and the quality are referred to the steward.

College Dramatic Club

The play, "Between the Acts," as given by the Club has met with great success. It has been staged in Storrs, Spring Hill, and Willimantic.

On May 1st it was played in College Hall for the first time. The second pleasant presentation was at Spring Hill, May 2d. The stage room was considerably less than that at the College and this proved rather a handicap; however, the play was well received and the people expressed their appreciation in the warmest manner. Although the play did not go with the snap of the first time, the evening was quite a success.

The third performance took place at the Loomer Opera House, Willimantic, on May 29th. On Wednesday afternoon the troupe went to Willimantic and rehearsed at the Opera House. Friday afternoon, they again went down for their final rehearsal. The services of Mr. A. B. Lincoln were secured to make up the actors. At a little after eight o'clock Helmold's Theatre Orchestra started the evening's performance. At quarter past eight the curtain was raised. Each of the players in acting his or her part in a way which deserves praise. There being a good crowd of local theatre-goers present and also several from the College, all of the troupe entered into the spirit of the thing with a dash.

The following is taken from the Willimantic Chronicle: "Dick Comfort, the nephew, married, yet single, was admirably portrayed by Harold Botsford, who clearly showed his discomfiture at the several turns affairs took with him. The part of Alex Meander, his uncle, was taken by Frank Loveland. His work in this difficult role was deserving of a special praise. Miss Smith, as Dick's wife, who resented being treated as the maid, captivated her audience. She gave a delightful impersonation of the unknown, unhonored, and unsung, wife. Mrs. Clementina Meander, the aunt, who couldn't resist flying into a rage at her husband, whom she treated as an entire stranger in the household, was given a good personification by Miss Sarah Treadwell, and Augustus Brundage was clever as George Marrigale, and unfriendly friend of Dick's. Richard Storrs made a fine butler and Grace Seage took well her part as maid.

"The characters were all taken in a finished manner, and the presentation was an artistic one, and there were noticed none of the little faults that go to indicate amateurs."

The Agricultural Club

President, G. M. Stack, '08. Vice-President, S. A. Clark, '08.
Secretary, A. E. Webster, '08.

After considerable correspondence with the secretary of the New England Federation of Agricultural Clubs, the organization of an Agricultural Club was accomplished on January 22, 1908, and the above named officers were elected for the remaining year. A committee was appointed to draw up a constitution and this constitution was read and accepted at the meeting of March 4th. At this same meeting a delegate was appointed to attend the special meeting of the New England Federation of Agricultural Students at Boston, Mass.

At this meeting a constitution for the federation was drawn up and before being accepted must be ratified by the Agricultural Club of each state college. This constitution was accepted at a meeting held on May 4th, 1908, and money was voted to pay the dues of our club for membership in the federation. The delegates from each institution meet once a year at such place as is appointed by the advisory committee.

This year has seen the organizing and starting of the club and next year should see it well on the way to prosperity. C. A. C. is above all things an agricultural college and probably holds more agricultural students than any other state college in New England. There are forty members of the club taken from the Junior and Senior classes alone, and while but little has been accomplished this year, our hope is to see the club well upon the road to prosperity within another year.

Faculty Scientific Club

G. H. Lamson, Chairman. Charles A. Wheeler, Secretary.

This club was organized in the fall term of the present year for the purpose of scientific investigation. Several interesting meetings have been held, and these have been open to the student body.

The Discipline Committee

This august body was organized in the dim past for unscientific investigations. Although naturally good natured it is capable of being otherwise, after five or six unsuccessful sessions of four hours each, trying to find out who stole the chicken.

Our Seniors

First and foremost we will try to give a faint impression of "Just One Girl." In other words, Miss Pauline Hopson, the only girl graduate in 1908. She was born in Wallingford, Conn., October 28th, 1886, and her early education was received in the public schools of Wallingford. She later attended the Phelps School of that town for four years. She entered the class of '08 at C. A. C. in the Sophomore year, choosing the domestic science course. During that year she was secretary of her class and won second botany prize. During her three years here she has excelled in all her studies. Witty, and with a keen sense of humor, she has often banished a streak of blues from her girl companions who so often have such things. The past year she has been vice-president of her class and associate editor of The Lookout.

Carlton Belden Barnard, alias "Duffy," alias "King Jake," opened his big, round eyes to the light of day (or darkness of night), in Bloomfield, Conn., December 8th, 1887, and he has had them wide open ever since. After going to grammar school in his home town he spent four years in the Hartford high school. On January 28th, 1907, he made his appearance at Storrs, and it has been our pleasure to have had him here most of the time since then. He has held several positions, most of which he claims were full of work with but little honor. One of these is the assistant treasurership of the Athletic Association, also the vice-presidency of the Students' Organization. He is our drum-major sergeant, also the president of the College Shakespearean Club for the spring term and associate editor of The Lookout. He says he expected to do a good deal of loafing this year, but has been cheated out of it. It is his plan to make up for lost time along this line during the coming year, after which he will settle down to milking.

On the 27th day of February, 1884, there came to a certain home in Hartford a wee baby. Someone chucked him under the chin and remarked how cute he was and to this day he bears the nickname, "Chuck." Charles Warren Bonner was graduated from grammar and high schools in Hartford and then tried Trinity. Either Trinity was too much for him or else he was too much for Trinity and as a result the fall of '06 found him enrolled in the Junior Class at C. A. C. During his Junior year he was drum-major sergeant. He also played on the '06 football team. He was elected editor-in-chief of The Lookout for '07-'08, which position he has efficiently filled. He has been captain of the cadet company this year. That much will suffice; for far be it from any of us to criticise our superior officers. He also held the position of basketball manager for the season of Orrando Perry Burr was born in Nyack, N. Y., on the 26th day of September, 1885. When old enough, he attended the Greenwich Public School, then Greenwich Academy for one year. He then drifted up to Washington, Conn., where he attended the Gunnery school for four years. Here he was prominent in athletics, and was very popular. He then went to the University Preparatory School, Ithaca, N. Y., for one year, after which he came to Storrs, and entered the Junior class in the fall of '06. This same fall he played on our football team, and was elected captain, '07. He was assistant football manager for '06. He played on the '06-'07 and '07-'08 basketball teams, was quartermaster sergeant in the cadet company, class president in his Senior year, and also president of the College Shakespearean Club for the winter term of the present year. Then, too, he was business manager of THE LOOKOUT for this year. He expects to take up farming, but what branch he does not know, as he started off in the horticultural course, changed to the poultry course, then to the dairy, back again to the poultry and finally ended up in the horticultural course.

They say that on August 30, 1886, there was born to Mr. and Mrs. Bothfeld, of Bay Ridge, L. I., a baby boy. They burdened this child with the name Harry Julius. As he shook off his long dresses and kilts, then later in life donned long trousers and became grown up, so he shook off the long name first given him, and now we all know him as just “Bim.” At eight he went to school and at twelve he entered Brooklyn Poly. Prep. from which he was graduated in '06. He then came to C. A. C. in the fall of '06, entering the Junior class. He became a member of the College Shakespearean Club of which he was vice-president during the spring term of '07. He played on the basketball team, '06-'07, '07-'08, and was captain this year. He plays first base on this year's ball team, is president of the Students' Organization, and first sergeant of the cadet company. He expects to return next year for post-graduate work, as then he will have a chance to loaf to his heart's content.

Horace Asa Case came into this world on the 17th day of March, 1886, in the town of Canton, Conn. He has one brother and one sister, the latter being a freshman at C. A. C. He is a member of the Canton Baptist Church and also a temporary member of the Second Congregational Church at Mansfield. He is a member of the Grange having taken the seven degrees. Horace began to attend district school in his native town in 1893. He graduated from Collinsville High School in 1906, and entered the Junior class at Connecticut in the fall of the same year, and we may say has been very faithful to his studies and his alma mater. He was fifth sergeant and later fourth sergeant in the cadet company this year. He intends to pursue horticulture as an occupation.

Toward the close of the 19th century or to be exact, on the 15th day of February, 1885, there appeared an addition, or otherwise, to a certain household in the town of Beacon Falls, Conn., in the shape of a small boy. This boy was afterwards called Albert Walter Stanley Clark. It seems hard to realize that the foregoing adjective ever accurately described this personage. At the age of five he commenced his labors at the little red schoolhouse where he was very industrious. After finishing here he spent a short period in high school and then went to work. Several years elapsed before he decided to try C. A. C., and the fall of 1906 found him enrolled in our Junior class. He was corporal and later fifth sergeant in the cadet company, was first director of the College Shakespearean Club for the winter term of '07-'08, and is vice-president of the Agricultural Club. He intends to go to farming.

George Henry Miller Devine, yes, he lived through it, was born in Lane Park, Lake County, Florida, on September 4, 1887. He went to England three times between the ages of 6 and 8. His folks moved to New York where he attended grammar school, after which he spent three years in Erasmus Hall High School. At the beginning of the spring term in '06, he entered the Sophomore Class at C. A. C. In his Junior year he was corporal bugler in the cadet company, and secretary of the Students' Organization. He is a member of the Eclectic Literary Society of which he is president this term. He was football manager in his Senior year as well as sergeant bugler. He is one of our most talented musicians. By this time next year we have reason to expect he will be farming in New York state with a certain attractive young lady as his life partner, and we sincerely hope that they may live happily ever afterwards.

Herbert Augustus Gillette was born in Clinton, Conn., October 16, 1887. His father died when he was eight months old, and at the age of two years he and his mother moved to New Haven, where he lived for five years. His mother, believing that country life was the only life for growing children, sent him to Mt. Carmel, Conn., where he boarded for a number of years at the same time attending the district school. He later returned to his native town and lived on his grandmother's farm, where he first became interested in agriculture. He attended public school and high school in Old Lyme, Conn., and graduated from the latter in 1905. He then spent one year at Mt. Hermon, Mass., arriving at C. A. C. in the fall of '06. He has played in the cadet band both years, is a member of the Eclectic Literary Society and won his "C" in basketball this year. He expects to be a Connecticut rube.

Matthew Hammond Griswold, better known as "Doc.," first saw lamplight in the town of Manchester, Conn., on the 27th of June, 1887. Being of a restless disposition, he soon moved to the town of Portland, Conn., and he has since lived in a good share of the towns of the state, his home at present being in Kensington. Doc. is really lazy, but he scurries around with his arms full of books and throws a lot of bluff, and also manages to pass some of his exams; but as he is a special student, he does not care much whether he passes them or not. He is a member of the Eclectic Literary Society and has been a student here four years. He has lately succeeded in joining the "Fussers' Club," after three years of failure. He was class secretary, '05-'06, and corporal in the cadet company in his Junior year. This year he was first, fourth and color sergeant. His intention is to be a chemist.

John Earl Leslie Houston was born in the city of Rochester, N. Y., on the 14th of August, 1888. At the age of four he was removed to Marlboro, on the Hudson, which is situated in the great fruit-growing section of New York state. We can all see him in our mind's eye doubled up by the pains resulting from the partial mastication of unripe apples. At the age of six he commenced his schooling, and when eleven years of age his folks brought him to Mansfield where his father started in fruit raising. John attended school here until he was fifteen, and the next fall entered the class of '07 at C. A. C. He was a Freshman two years, as he wished to get a thorough knowledge of his elementary studies. In his Sophomore year he joined the Eclectic Literary Society, of which he was president for the fall term of this year. He was class treasurer as a Freshman, and second sergeant in the cadet company as a Senior. It is with sincere regret that we see him pass away.

Herbert Edward Marsh, or rather "Prexy," came into existence in the town of New Milford, Conn., on the banks of the Housatonic, October 3, 1888. He, on arriving at the proper age, attended the district school until eleven years old, when he entered the Center High School of his home town, from which he was graduated in 1906. The fall of '06 saw him at Storrs where he entered the Junior class. During his Junior year he was secretary of the Eclectic Literary Society, second vice-president of the Students' Organization and president of his class. He played quarterback on the football teams of '06 and '07, and also shortstop on the baseball team these same College years. He has held the position of second lieutenant in the cadet company for '07-'08. Next year he expects to go to Cornell, and he carries with him the good-will of all those connected with C. A. C.

"Send up another platter of dropped-on’s" is the cry we hear from the serving room. Who is it? Why! That’s Joseph Henry Pierpont. He commenced howling in Waterbury, Conn., October, 12th, 1888, and hasn’t stopped yet. Well, everybody likes Joe, even Mabel, although he has got curly hair and blue eyes, and cheeks that wear a perpetual blush. He went for nine years to the East Farm School in Waterbury and then entered Waterbury High School from which he was graduated in 1906. The fall of that year he came to C. A. C. and entered the Junior class. For the past three years he has been the man behind the base drum in our College cadet band, and also played guard on the football team in his Senior year. During the spring term this year he has been first director of the College Shakespearean Club. Next year he expects to work for our Experiment Station along the line of dairy herd testing and grafting.

That little fellow over there that wears glasses and a pompadour is “Dink,” in other words Norman William Purple. He was born in Haddam Neck, Connecticut, on October 6, 1888. His home is now East Hampton, in which place he attended and was graduated from grammar school. In the fall of 1904 he entered C. A. C. as a Freshman. In '05-'06 he was class president. He has played on the football in '05, '06, and '07. When it comes to football we may say, to use common slang, “He’s little; but, O my!” For the '06-'07 season he was basketball manager, and has played on our baseball nine in '06, '07, and '08, being captain in his Senior year. He was athletic notes editor on the Lookout board for '06-'07 and '07-'08, and was also third sergeant in the cadet company in his Senior year. For '07-'08 he was president of the A. A., and during the fall term of '07 was president of the College Shakespearean Club. He is uncertain about his plans for next year and we may see him back at Storrs. Dink will certainly be welcome.

On the second of November, 1886, the stork came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Stack, in New Milford, Conn., and left a small boy. This same small boy soon received the dignified appellation of Garrett Marshall Stack. Little is known of his early life more than that he displayed a liking for nature and paint. At four he could read and print and at the age of seven he began his school career. Later he entered the New Milford High School, graduating therefrom when sixteen. He then worked a year at plumbing, a year at sign painting, and a year at undertaking. He entered the Junior class at C. A. C. in 1906. He has been our baseball manager for two years, president of the Agricultural Club in '08, editor of college notes on The Lookout board, corporal of the band and corresponding secretary of the Eclectic Literary Society, '07-'08. It is also rumored that he made several attempts to join the "Fussers' Club," none of which could be called exactly successful. Next year he expects to take up landscape gardening as his line of work.

Keith Scott, better known among us as "Scotty," was born in Kingston, Canada, July 16, 1886. His early education was obtained in nine different schools. He began his schooling when thirteen years old in Toronto, Canada. His parents moved to Worcester, Mass., but he never attended school there on account of weak eyes. Later he was found studying in three different schools in Chicago, Ill. His first diploma was received from the Colorado State Normal Grammar School. Instead of entering high school the following year, he took another course in grammar schools of Boston where he received another diploma. He then entered the Boston Mechanics Arts High School, graduating from that institution in 1906. He appeared at Storrs in the fall of the same year and entered the Junior class. He expects to receive his diploma this spring and the coming fall will find him enrolled either at Cornell or Amherst.

Upon the 29th of January, 1886, in the town of Northborough, Mass., there was born, judging from present appearances, a very small and puny baby boy, who was soon given the name Ralph Emerson Wadsworth. At the age of five he attended a private kindergarten where he spent much time standing in the corner as a punishment for misdemeanors. At the age of seven he entered the third grade in the public schools. When he was but thirteen he entered the high school where he remained for two and a half years. He then got into a scrape, a habit which he has not yet lost, so left there and entered Worcester Classical High School from which he was graduated in 1905. He then entered the Massachusetts Aggie which he left in January, coming to C. A. C. as a Junior. He, however, got into another scrape, resulting in an extended vacation, but returned in '06 and entered the Junior class that year. He has played in the cadet band for two years and is a member of the Eclectic Literary Society. Next fall he will again try Massachusetts Aggie.

Arthur Eggleston Webster was born in Berlin, Conn., March 26, 1886, and has grown but little since that time. He is quite commonly known as "Flossie." He attended the Berlin grammar schools when small, or rather when smaller, and also the New Britain High School from which he was graduated. He came to Storrs in the fall of 1906 and entered the Junior class. They say he is the only Senior who can claim the distinction of being high private in the rear rank. He was one of the directors of the College Shakespearean Club in the winter term and is secretary of the Agricultural Club. He was a candidate for the "checker team," and it was not his fault that he didn't make it. As to his future it is unsettled in his own mind as yet.

In the year 1888, on the seventh day of the month of roses and weddings, there came a son to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woodruff, in Washington, Conn. They named this youngster Curtiss Truman. His home is still in the same place. He attended district school in Washington until May, 1902, when he went to the Gunnery School of that place where he attended two years. The fall of 1904 found him on the way to Storrs with his little trunk, and he entered C. A. C. as a Freshman. The following spring term he was elected secretary of the class. On November 2, 1907, he joined the College Shakespearean Club. During '07-'08 he has been secretary of the class. In his Junior year he was a corporal in the cadet company, being promoted to first lieutenant for '07-'08. He intends to return to C. A. C. as a P. G. in the fall term.

Harry William Wooden, or to use slang, we may say "Woody," or "Baldy," first commenced to kick on the twenty-fourth of December, 1884, in Hastings, England. He has tried hard to live down that habit but has succeeded very poorly. In June, 1888, his folks moved to Washington, Conn., where he commenced his schooling in 1890. Three years later saw him in Morris, Conn., where he went to school another year, but, being one of the nine boys, he went to work at ten years of age, attending school winters. He finally passed through district school and entered high school in Bethlehem, his present home, in 1898. In '00 he left school but continued to study nights, working in Waterbury winters and at home summers. He learned the upholstering trade and also learned how to play baseball, in Bethlehem and New Milford, and we can all testify that he hasn't forgotten how yet. He came to C. A. C. last year, taking up mechanical work. He has been catcher on our baseball team both years, is a prominent member of the "Fussers' Club," and also belongs to the College Shakespearean Club. Next year he expects to take up his studies in Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, if possible.

Traction, 10, 12, 15 and 20-horse power.
Air Cooled, 1-horse power.
Sawing, spraying and pumping outfits and jacks.

You see the I. H. C. line is complete. You are sure to find in the many styles and sizes just the size best adapted for your needs, no matter whether you require a small 1-horse power engine or a large 20-horse power engine.

In the shop or mill the I. H. C. engine will be found safer, much cheaper, and far more convenient than steam; on the farm it will be found more reliable, economical, adaptable and convenient than hand, horse, steam or wind power.

Call on the nearest local agent. He will demonstrate I. H. C. engines and give you catalog and full particulars, or if you prefer, write for colored hanger and booklet "300 Years of Power Development."

Have you noticed any decrease in the crop yield of your farm? Perhaps your farm is still yielding good crops, but if you are not properly fertilizing it, it will soon cease to do this. The removal of each crop takes substance from the soil, and although not noticed to any great extent in the first few crops, it will soon begin to show unless the substance is returned.

Farm manure contains just what the soil needs to maintain or improve the crop yield, but it must be spread in the right way, or the valuable elements which it contains will be wasted.

The proper way is with an I. H. C. manure spreader, for one of these machines so distributes the manure that a particle of manure comes in contact with every particle of the soil.

The I. H. C. spreaders are the Corn King and Kemp Twentieth Century, return apron machines, and the Cloverleaf, an endless apron machine. Each of these spreaders is made in a number of different sizes. They are durable and substantial and are light in draft, as the simplicity of the power transmission requires but little more of the horses' strength than it takes to turn the wheels.

Call on the local agent for full particulars and catalog, or write for colored hanger and booklet "A Wasteful Farm Practice."

SEASONABLE CHAT.

My! but doesn't this weather make you think of Summer? Just the other day I was over to the neighbors and we were talking about butter and milk and cows. I said I don't believe I could keep house without a separator but I do wish it was not so hard to keep clean and sweet.
Mrs. Jones spoke right up and said, "That's nothing, use WYANDOTTE CLEANER AND CLEANSER."

It is packed in little sacks like salt. All you have to do is to take the separator apart, apply a little of the Wyandotte powder with the end of a damp brush, rub quickly, then rinse in warm water, scald and put out in the sun to dry. Why it's no work at all and you are always sure to have a clean, sweet machine.

Use soap powder or lye? No indeed, I would not, not on the separator. You try Wyandotte Cleaner and Cleanser, then' you will think just as I do.

Order from your supply house or ask your dealer for a 5-lb. sack.
