Loss in Upper-Classmen Almost Made Up by Large Freshman Class.

MORE GIRLS THAN EVER.

Students Come to Storrs from All Over New England and New York.

In contrast to conditions in practically all other eastern colleges, the Connecticut Agricultural College opened on October 17 with the largest enrollment of Freshmen of both men and women in its history. One of the authorities upon being asked to explain the causes of the heavy enrollment of new students, said that it was probably due to the increased demand for men and women trained in agriculture and home economics. This large enrollment of Freshmen will make up in part for the losses last year by the upper classes. The Senior and Junior classes have been reduced about 30 per cent. owing to the demand that has been made for men in the army and navy. The Sophomore and Senior School classes have likewise lost many men. This accounts for the fact that the total number of students at Connecticut Agricultural College is not quite as many as last year.

The College is more of a co-educational institution than ever before. In the past few years there have been only twelve to fifteen girls taking home economics courses, while this year there is an enrollment of twenty-nine co-eds. This is the largest number of girls registered in the history of the College. A few statistics will show how close this number was reached back in what some would call "the good old days." For in 1897 there were 26 girls, 24 in 1899, and 27 in 1900, so this year with 29 is the banner year for the girls.

New students have not come from Connecticut alone, but from practically every New England state, as well as New Jersey and New York. (Continued on page 7.)

JUNIOR HOP PLANNED.

The Junior Class are planning to hold the first dance of the year on Friday evening, November 29, to be known as the Junior Hop.

Contrary to other dances held before this, it is to be on a money-making plan, in order to raise money to help finance the College during the term. The dance will be strictly informal, and very similar to the Mid-Year Informal, held last January. This dance, which is to be the place of the Football Hop, should be supported by the faculty and alumni as well as the entire student body, as the success of this year's Nutmeg depends upon it.

Many Faculty Changes.

SIX NEW INSTRUCTORS ADDED TO COLLEGE TEACHING FORCE.

Horticultural Work Divided—Several Departments Get Additional Help.

Many changes have come about in the faculty of the Connecticut Agricultural College during the summer months. New positions have been created calling for new men and women and a number of instructors have been transferred from the college teaching staff to the Extension Department, while in a few cases extension instructors have gone into college work. A visitor returning to the campus even though he has been absent only a few months, cannot help noticing the new faces seen among the faculty.

Professor A. G. Gulley, for many years head of the horticultural work of the college, succumbed to the ill health which has been troubling him for the past few years and passed (Continued on page 6.)

HORSES AND SHEEP GET RIBBONS AT SPRINGFIELD SHOW.

Many Prizes Brought Back to College although Competition was Keen and Classes Full.

Many congratulations have been received by the Connecticut Agricultural College on the fine showing of horses and sheep made at the Eastern States Industrial and Agricultural Exposition held at Springfield, Mass., October 12 to 20. This fair was the largest held in the East and the competition was keen.

Two College horses were shown against such prominent and successful breeders as J. Crouch & Son, of Lafayette, Ind.; S. D. Wicks, of Pomfret, Conn.; Harvey D. Eaton, of Waterville, Maine; James I. Risk, of Hope­ well Junction, New York; H. H. Green and George H. Timmins, of Ware, Mass., and were awarded the following prizes: Seven firsts, three seconds, three thirds, one fifth and one reserve. SOPHs. Win Rope Pull.

HOT CONTEST STAGED.

Freshmen After Eight Minutes Give Way and are Pulled Into Water.

As usual, the freshmen went through the pond this year as at the annual regatta, which was a while, however, the first-year men had the advantage and took up enough slack in the first few minutes of pulling to have the sopho­ more "taking water" in fine shape. At the end of eight minutes pull­ ing, however, the second-year men under the leadership of D. J. Scott rallied and regained the ground lost. It was just in time too, for several of the sophomores were practically submerged while "Spuds" Murphy, the first man on the rope had at least one foot in a watery grave. The freshmen lost heart after the pull made by the sophomores and went through the pond in the most approved fashion. The entire class followed tradition and splashed along behind the vanished team, not a man failing to take his bath in the chilly waters of the "Duck Pond." On Monday afternoon, October 22, at 4:30, twenty sophomores and twenty freshmen were at their places at the end of the rope, which was stretched across the west end of the pond. Each team had its own leader and its own backers. The sopho­ more pulled from the north bank while the freshmen took the south, and because of their size, the odds were to a slight degree in favor of the class of '21. After the contest had been read by Professor H. F. Judkins, F. W. Duffee took his place as timekeeper.

The crack of the starting pistol had hardly had time to send back its echo when the rope began to stretch under the strong and steady pull of forty husky under-classmen. Both sides appeared to hold their own for a short time and then a slight advance of the center mark toward the soph

POULTRY CONTEST CLOSES.

The fifth annual International Egg Laying Contest has been completed with a total of over 1000 eggs more than the preceding contest. A pen of Barred Rocks was first with a total of 2180 eggs. This is the first year for Barred Rocks in a contest. This pen is owned by Applecock Farm, Fitts William, N. H. Pen 73, of White Leghorns, owned by A. P. Fleming of Calberton, N. Y., was second with a total of 2184. The new contest opens November 1, and bids fair to be as successful as the preceding contests have been.
Mansfield Fair Held.

THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS IN PRIZES DISTRIBUTED TO MANY EXHIBITORS.

Athletic Field and Armoury Turned into Fair Ground—All Departments of College Contribute to Show.

It is needless to mention the fact, but this community so full of agriculture, needed some means to show its products. The splendid enthusiasm for agriculture shown by the work of the boys and girls in the local school, forced the outgrowth of the idea which gave Mansfield its first fair this fall. Last spring some of the more influential residents of the town of Mansfield organized the Mansfield Fair Association which was incorporated in the summer. The following officers were elected: Charles Savage, president; L. J. Storrs, vice-president; A. J. Brundage, secretary, and Abbott E. Anthony, treasurer. Twelve directors were appointed from the various parts of the township. The Association has for its object the promotion of the best interests of Mansfield by giving a real agricultural fair each year. The officers express their sincere appreciation for the hospitality of the college and for the thorough cooperation of everyone who helped to make the fair such a success. The few who unfortunately are always pessimistic about undertaking a new enterprise came nevertheless, and in a short time realized the fair was a complete success. This may be shown in another way by the fact that since the fair, four persons have made application for life membership in the Mansfield Fair Association.

On September 29, at an early hour, many hands were at work converting the large floor of Hawley Armory into a "tent city." At the same time places were being made for the live stock south of the running track on the athletic field. By ten o'clock many of the six hundred visitors had arrived from the various parts of the town of Mansfield and adjoining towns. There were 185 exhibitors and the prizes aggregated $300. The exhibitors were divided into two classes—the junior department and the adult department.

There were exhibited 18 yoke of oxen, 75 head of dairy cattle, 18 horses, besides sheep, swine and beef cattle. Great interest was shown by the Petersburg people and a great many of produce was exhibited; 25 barrels of potatoes competed for the $50 prize offered only to winners of the blue ribbon at fairs held in this state. Among the manufacturers exhibiting were the Kirby Mills of Mansfield Hollow, makers of optical instruments and jewelry. Max Pollack of Conantville showing silk goods and the Eagle Mills of Eagleville had an educational exhibit, showing the evolution of the cocoon from the cocoon to the finished product—cloth.

The departments of the college exhibited. The Farm Department showed swine, sheep, beef cattle and horses. Of course, Dragon Jr., who recently won second place at the Springfield Fair, was there. The Agronomy Department, showed farm machinery. The Dairy Department exhibited dairy cattle, besides furnishing a guessing contest for four cows. The contest was of great value in showing how a profitable dairy may be recognized. The Poultry Department was located in the Armory and had a guessing contest which the junior members entered enthusiastically. Many a father wondered at his son's ability to pick the high producers. The Poultry Department also had a splendid display of graded eggs besides a number of exhibition pens. Professor Eaten had an exhibit illustrating effects of rock phosphate experiments. The home Economics Department showed a large display of fancy work, canned products, war breadsuffs, and other suggestions for war-time economy, besides other educational exhibits. The Horticultural Department had a splendid and attractive exhibit of fruits and vegetables. The Botanical Department showed a table of pedigreed squashes of various shapes and colors. An exhibit of bees and their honey was shown by the Entomological Department. The stage was attractively decorated by flowers from the greenhouse. The local branch of the Red Cross furnished lunch and ice cream.

After a busy day, many of the people returned in the evening and saw six reels of moving pictures. After the show dancing was enjoyed.

SHELDON ACCEPTS POSITION.

A. C. Sheldon of last year's class is acting as an assistant professor in zoology and boys' and girls' club worker in Tolland County, with headquarters at Rockville. Mr. Sheldon began his experience in farm bureau work as garden supervisor for Norwich early last spring. He made good on the job, and as a consequence was asked to take over the work of assistant county agent in Tolland County for one month, with the understanding that if all went well he would find himself in the position. Many in the parties were willing to continue the contract he should be employed permanently. His contract for the year has just been signed, indicating that both parties are pleased at the arrangement.

SOPHS WIN ROPE PULL.

omore's bank was noticed. This gain was not to be held for long, however, for the freshmen began to respond to the calls of their leader. Soon the first three men of the sophomore team were in the water with the center mark a good six feet toward the bank from the center.

Here both teams held, each watching for any signs of tiring on the other. When the last eight minutes had passed, the freshmen began a new drive which would have meant success had not the sophomore leader been forced to call a rest with an opening. Quickly calling to his rested men, he began anew his loud call of "Yo, Heave." The sophomores heaved with such force that, with about three good pulls, they had their own men out of the water and the freshmen started well on their way toward the sophomore bank. From this point on, the whole matter was easy sailing and the sophomores calmly walked away with the rope. The entire freshman class followed their team through and all presented a sorry-looking appearance as they emerged from the water.

According to all accounts of previous pulls, there has been not such a long and closely contested pull since 1913. The participants as well as the onlookers felt that they had seen a rope pull that will be long remembered and one that will be hard to beat in years to come.

Almost every college in the country has its own favorite methods of deciding the great question as to the superiority of the freshman and the sophomore classes. Wesleyan has its Flag Rush and its Cannon Scrap, Trinity has its January Frolics, while other colleges have their several and individual scraps and dashes. At Connecticut Aggie, however, a suggestion was made that a system be adopted that would prevent any parties of the entire college from participating in the final pull. M. K. Cadwell, '15, who has been managing a large sugar plantation in Cuba since graduating, was back for a couple of days before school opened. He is planning to attend the third week of September to open the Training Camp that opens in January.
New Cut System Adopted.

Students with Eighty Per Cent. or Over for Last Semester Allowed Double Cuts.

Was your standing above an average of eighty per cent. last year? If it was, you will have twice as many cuts to your credit as the students below this mark. This is according to the new ruling which went into effect at the beginning of this school year. This rule allows a student cuts to equal the number of credit hours in each course, with the provision that a student with a standing of eighty per cent. or better for the previous semester has double the usual number of cuts.

A further innovation in the rules as promulgated at the opening of the school is the elimination of all excused absences, except in the case of sickness, or for participation in a College activity under the direction of a member of the faculty.

The rules for attendance are as follows:

1-Students are expected to attend all College exercises.

2-Excuses will be granted for absences due only to (a) serious illness, or, (b) participation in any College activity which is under the direction of a member of the faculty.

3-To cover absences due to slight illness or other causes, an allowance of unexcused absences is granted each semester equal in number to one-half the total credit hours carried, but the number taken in any one course shall not exceed the number of credit hours of that course. A student who in the previous semester has obtained an average grade of 80 per cent. shall be entitled to twice this allowance.

4-All unexcused absences taken during the two days immediately preceding or following a vacation shall round double.

5-A student exceeding his allowance of unexcused absences, shall be summoned before the Committee on Administration, which shall have full power to dispose of his case.

The presentation of a physician’s certificate shall be necessary before the excuse is granted.

A vacation is any holiday or recess scheduled in the College catalog.

JACOB WARMBY LEAVES.

Jacob Warmby, janitor of the offices and rooms in the main building for the past eleven years, resigned his position the first of October on account of poor health. He had been in poor health for some time, but failed rapidly during the past year, and when the opening of College brought more duties, Mr. Warmby felt that he could no longer continue with his work. So just before College opened he and his wife moved to Norwich Town, where they are to make their home.

OUR POLICY.
"The Campus", in a stage of development, is necessarily undergoing various changes and this year with the incoming of a new Board, brings new ideas to Circumstances. Circumstances have brought about conditions that some might think would hinder the progress of the paper, but unless some unforeseen calamity happens to the present Board, "The Campus", with the help of the alumni and the undergraduates, will have the most prosperous and successful year in its history.

The policy of the Board is to give satisfaction. This is to be accomplished in two ways: first, the publication is to come out regularly on every other Friday throughout the College year. Second, good life news will be found in its columns.

One new column will be found called the "Student's Safety Valve". This will be given over entirely to letters to the Editor from faculty, alumni, or students who wish to "blow off" about something concerning the College, "The Campus", etc.

Don't go around "blowing off", or as some may term it, "talking up", where only a few can get the benefit, but just sit down and write out what you wish to say, and then hand the article to the Editor or Managing Editor. This article must be written in reasonably good English and have the author's name signed to it. However, his name need not be published, if he does not wish. If your "blowing off" is not fit to publish, then it is not fit for or of enough consequence to express verbally. Perhaps this will stimulate more students to write for the paper and will surely do some good by setting one practice in expressing his ideas.

Letters from the alumni will be gladly received and published at the first opportunity. The success of any college paper depends in a great part upon the interest that the alumni show. It does not take much time to sit down and write a few lines telling where you are, what you are doing, and what are your immediate interests for the future. A special column—Alumni Department—will be given over to these articles and it is hoped will contain interesting news for the graduate.

As the College year goes on new ideas will present themselves in the above as changes, but whatever takes place, the object in view is: best for the alumni, best for the College, and best for the advertisers.

INFORMATION WANTED.
There is published in this issue of "The Campus" our Honor Roll of the men now in the Service, the names of course, is almost impossible to have a complete list, and if any have been overlooked we would be very glad to receive information regarding them.

WORK FOR CONNECTICUT.
This year has been a very busy year for the Connecticut Agricultural College. This war has brought opportunities and responsibilities such as only comes in times of national stress, when every effort and resource of each city and town must be stretched to the utmost to meet the demands made. We may well be proud of the manner in which we have been able to meet these demands. The faculty have given their time and their best efforts to prove to the people of the State of Connecticut and to our National Government that they were justified in spending the money which they have spent in making this institution of a useful one. Some of our students have gone out from Storrs and have led in agricultural education. Some have gone into the army and have contributed the value of our military training. But our work is not yet done. In fact we have only just begun. Speaking to the Farm Bureau Conference, which was held here at Storrs this summer, Joseph W. Alsop, a member of the Council of Trustees, of the State Council of Defense, said: "Opportunity knocked at your door and you were there. Your work however is not yet done. You have started many things, but every one must be finished before you can consider yourselves established in the confidence of the people of the state."

Mr. Alsop also sounded a challenge to Storrs' spirit and Storrs' desire to achieve. "We must make good and we will do it. We are doing it every day. Never before has there been such a spirit as now prevails on the Hill. When the first soldier has been sent to his post he must make good and we will do it. We are doing it every day. Never before has there been such a spirit as now prevails on the Hill. When the first soldier has been sent to his post he must make good and we will do it."

The Board is pleased with the work the College is doing and feel that the eyes of the state are watching his ideas.

AN APPRECIATION.
"Professor Alfred Gurdon Gulley, 69 years old, died suddenly Thursday afternoon at the home of his son, Roy C. Gulley, at 105 Brook Street, New Haven.

Although Professor Gulley had not entirely regained his health since a serious illness a year ago, he had been able to carry on his usual college duties. He was Mr. Gurdon Gulley's son-in-law and his teaching was considered a valuable and successful year in his history.

There is no need to speak of his excellence, the soundness of his work, either here in the College itself, or in the state. Professor Gulley had earned for himself a place in the esteem of those for whom he labored and in the community at large, and will long be remembered. He was a factor and an important one in preparing for their life work many successful and useful citizens. His own thorough training and his same importance of the chosen field of his effort made him a positive and aggressive influence, not only with the students, whom he guided, but with the community. His may be said to have been a happy and successful life; for he lived to see the complete appreciation of his work, and the indication of his judgment in devoting to his profession his whole life; and he was entirely happy in his domestic life.

Professor Gulley not only served zealously the interests of the Institution with which he was connected, but those of his town and state. His political opinions and his views as to the conduct of the country were formed and firmly grounded in the period of the Civil War. His boyhood and early youth were passed in the strenuous times immediately preceding the war, and the critical years that followed. His conception of the responsibility and the duties of American citizenship were lofty and his patriotic loyalty to his country was so deep a high view of citizenship he not only adhered to, but he inculcated in his teaching. No man ever doubted where Professor Gulley stood on any question relating to his Church, his town, his state, or his country. He was fearlessly outspoken, and his opinions matured by experience and reflection, he never hesitated to declare, and so far as he could, enforce.

Professor Gulley was born in the Middle West, but was nevertheless a good New Englander, having all those qualities that we associate with our best New Englanders.

He came to Connecticut a graduate of the Michigan Agricultural College and remained until his death, after twenty-five years of service to his Institution. He was the oldest in service of all the faculty. His absence at the opening of the College year is a real shadow upon all his conferees as they meet and exchange vacation experiences at the beginning of a new year. His death is a very sad and a great loss to his country, his boys, his ready interest, his sympathy.

ALFRED GURDON GULLEY.

Alfred Gurdon Gulley, 69 years old, died suddenly Thursday, August 16, 1917, at the home of his son in South Windsor. Although Professor Gulley had not entirely regained his usual health since a severe illness a year ago, he had been able to carry on his usual College duties. He and Mrs. Gulley were spending two or three weeks at his fruit farm during the harvest season. He was born in Dearborn, Mich., July 15, 1848. He leaves a wife, a son, Roy C. Gulley, and four brothers, Frank A. Gulley of Godfrey, III., Richard H. Gulley, Urbana, Ill., Orrin Preston and Robert Eward Gulley of Detroit, Mich., and one sister, Mrs. Lewis Ives of Dearborn, Mich.

Professor Gulley graduated from the Michigan Agricultural College with the class of 1868, receiving his master's degree in 1873. After graduating he spent several years in active fruit growing. From 1890 to 1895 he was assistant horticulturist at the Michigan State College, resigning from that position and going to the University of Vermont for one year. He came to Connecticut as horticulturist in the summer of 1894, where he completed his twenty-third year of service October 10. He was a his bright repartee will be sadly missed. Not only for his character, but for his active fruit growing. From 1890-1895 he was assistant horticulturist in the summer of 1894, where he held all the important positions; a member of South Haven Council, No. 45, and was Thrice Illustrious Master of the Grand Council of Michigan; a member of St. John's Commandery, Willimantic, Conn., holding the office of Eminent Commander in 1904.

The funeral services were held in the church at Storrs and were attended by the Knights Templars. The body was taken to the family lot at Detroit, Mich., for burial.

ALUMNI AT SPRINGFIELD.

Thousands of people attended the Eastern States' Exposition at Springfield this year, and among the thousands were a good sprinkling of former Connecticut Aggie men and women. The following is a partial list of those present: Grove Deming, '19; G. B. Treadwell, '97; Roman Averill, '83; Herbert Halleck, '97; Bayeaux Morgan, ex-'18; Sherman P. Hollister, '98; "Red" Storms, '13; Clifton Grant, '95; Lester F. Harvey, '92; Charles Pierpont, '10; Helen Bolan, '15; Clarence Lee, '18; A. Brundage, '19; W. E. Piper, '16; Walter Ackerman, '15.

PRESIDENT'S RECEIPTION.

Annual Reception for Student Body held in spite of Bad Weather.

The first social event of the season was held in spite of the wind and rain on Friday, October 19, when President and Mrs. Charles L. Beach received the student body at their annual reception.

The large Freshman class was given an opportunity to get acquainted with their instructors and with the officials of the College, while the Sophomores and Juniors, other years renewed old acquaintanceship and exchanged experiences of the summer vacation. The college orchestra was much in evidence during the evening and added much to the occasion. President and Mrs. Beach received from eight to nine o'clock and dancing began at nine.

In spite of the inclement weather, practically every member of the student body attended the reception as well as a large number of the faculty.

FRESHMAN CLASS MEETS.

The first meeting of the Freshman Class was held in Hawley Armory on the evening after the rope pull, and showed that the old Aggie spirit was alive and kicking in spite of the war, and that the new men on the Hill will yelli lustily whenever occasion demands it.

The election of officers took up the greater part of the meeting. E. D. Dow was elected temporary chairman until the election for class president later on in the year. James Goodrich, still damp from his afternoon swim, was made vice-president and cheer, and the election of Miss Luddy as secretary was even more enthusiastically received. Webster Chapman was elected treasurer and showed his ability to tend the post by getting the first month's dues that evening.

Not despairing at the defeat received at the hands of the Sophomore earlier in the day, plans were rushed through for a class football team and Fred Maier was elected temporary manager.

After the meeting the class went out on the campus and paid tribute to the conquering sophomores with cheers, and then down to Grove Cottage to show the co-eds in the class their appreciation for their help during the pull. After the demonstration the class dispersed, happy to a man over their first day of real college life.

Dr. Cassius Way, '99, comes to the front again. The Borden Milk Company, the high grade cow's milk whose supply Dr. Way is responsible, won the Silver Medal for Certainty in the National Dairy Show, Columbus, Ohio.

James A. Gamble, '09, was granted a Master's Degree in Science by the University of George Washington, District of Columbia, in June of this year. This is one of the older institutions of the country, being established in 1821, and has an enrollment of about 2000 students.

COTTAGE NOTES.

Grove Cottage has become more truly a girls' dormitory this year. Instead of having only a handful, sixteen co-eds are rooming there, and there is the large number of twenty-five girls from which to choose a team.

A meeting of the Grove Cottage Association was held and officers elected for ensuing year as follows: E. M. Anderson, '17, chairman; C. Dodge, '21, secretary; L. W. Giffolfe, '20, treasurer; A. E. Butler, '19, chairwoman Social Committee; H. L. Clark, '19, chairwoman Conference Committee.

A Halloween party is to be held in Hawley Armory, November 3, 1917. It is hoped that the girls will be able to have a good basketball team this year, with the increased number of girls from which to choose a team. If a coach can be procured there is no reason why there should not be some very good games this winter.

The Freshmen co-eds have been initiated and have been given rules by the Sophomores. The money received for the rules will go to buy badly-needed new records.

There are to be no Tuesday night dances this year, but the co-eds may Bertam from 7.45 p.m. to 9.45 p.m. on Fridays and also on Sunday afternoons.

NEW COMMANDANT ARRIVES.

Work Begins at Once under the direction of Lieutenant Frank R. Sessions.

Lieutenant Frank R. Sessions has been detailed by the War Department to act as Commandant and Professor of Military Science at the Connecticut Agricultural College. Lieutenants arrived on the campus last Wednesday and instruction has begun. Major E. L. Gilson has been detailed by the War Department to serve as examining officer for applicants to the third Officers' Training Camp at Plattsburgh, beginning on January 1st. Both graduates and undergraduates of the Connecticut Agricultural College are eligible for appointment. The Connecticut Agricultural College is entitled to nominate twenty principals and twenty alternates.

EXTENSION NOTES.

Mia Helen Bolan, '15, has recently been appointed assistant Boys' and Girls' Club Worker in New London County.

Dorothy Hemingway, '16, has been conducting a community canning class in Middletown.

Richard Whitham, '15, has been appointed assistant county agent in New London County.

his bright repartee will be sadly missed. Not only for his character, but for his trained ability and his great accomplishments. As these lines are written, prompted by affection and regret, the sense of personal loss to the College and to the faculty is acutely felt: we can only say in parting: vale, vale, in aeternum vale.

COLLEGE COW RAISES MARK IN BOTH MILK AND BUTTER FAT.

Ayrshire Cow Owned and Bred by Connecticut Agricultural College Does Well on Test.

When Professor G. C. White calls his judging classes together this year he will find that the boys place them one, two, three, four, there will be one cow that he won't be able to know from bragging about. Mauchline Snowdrop 2nd—red and white boosie that stands second from the end in the Ayrshire row. Mauchline just came through a state record the other day and in order to settle the matter she raised the old record about 30 pounds of better fat and nearly 300 pounds of milk. Her actual record is 14,041.7 pounds of milk and 587.6 pounds of fat in one year. The record was held by Mauchline Mayflower of Hickory Island, owned by Branford Farm. Mauchline set the new mark under a rather severe handicap, for she spent two weeks this year on the fair circuit while she was on test and last year she spent a couple of weeks on the circuit just before freshening, an experience which would set the best-balanced cow in the world back a few notches.

Miss Maud E. Hayes has taken over the work of State Leader of County Home Demonstration Agents, her entire time being taken up by the Extension Department.

A new instructor, H. B. Price of Michigan University, has been secured to teach in the Economics Department under the direction of Professor Guy C. Smith, head of the department. Professor Smith has lately been appointed in his capacity as representative of the United States Bureau of Markets. The Department of Economics is giving special courses in marketing.

A new instructor has been secured in the Animal Husbandry Department to work under the direction of Professor H. F. Garrigus. This new man is A. G. Skinner, who comes from the University of Ontario at Guelph to take up his work. He will devote his time to the extension work, paying special attention to sheep work, although more or less attention will be given to all kinds of live stock.

In the Agronomy Department B. G. Southwick is among the missing, having been transferred to full time extension work, his place being taken by M. F. Able, a graduate of Cornell and Ohio State College.

John A. Keullinger takes the place of Glenn Southwick is among the missing, having been transferred to full time extension work, his place being taken by M. F. Able, a graduate of Cornell and Ohio State College.

RECORD ENTERING CLASS.

There are three from the Green Mountain State; eight from Massachusetts; Rhode Island sends one; New York three; New Jersey five; and Connecticut seventy-one, making a total of sixty-six Freshmen, twenty-eight first-year school, eight new specials, and two new students entering upper classes. To date this makes a total enrollment of 104 new students at Connecticut Agricultural College this fall, and with seventy-nine old men back, brings the total enrollment of all classes to nearly 200.

The list of men and women in all classes follows:

Freshmen Entertain.

LARGE GATHERING OF STUDENTS SEES EXHIBITION.

Varied Stunts Put on by New Men for Benefit of Co-eds and Upper Classmen.

For a number of years there has existed at Connecticut Agricultural College the policy of formally presenting the Freshman Classes to the co-eds and upper-classmen at a party held under the supervision of the sophomores of the College and the seniors of the School. The party is held in front of the Cottage before an assembly of those who do not participate in the frolic, mainly the co-eds and those who have already had their chance of being supervisors.

And so it was this year when, on the evening of October 18 the freshmen, properly attired in their "evening clothes," were assembled in front of the dormitories and marched to the appointed rendezvous. The two long lines of new men marched quickly under the direction of their guards and to the tune of "How Green We Are," which was lustily sung or shouted by the one hundred or so men. The line of march was the same as it has been for the past three years, from Storrs Hall to Whitney Hall and then to the Cottage, where the performers were awaited by about fifty non-combatants.

Here the happy and unhappy members of the party were lined up and told to bow to their audience before they should start the play, taking the chance that there would be no time given for a final bow before the final curtain. The program offered to the approval of the audience was varied and entertaining. So many different forms of vaudeville stunts were presented that it was extremely hard to imagine whether one was at Yale or at a three-ring circus.

One of the best acts of the evening was a solo in French which was sung by Schenker of the Class of '21. Having been picked to offer a solo, he did not consider the fact that he knew no songs in English interfere in the least, but at once launched forth into the song "La Bella" which was received with applause. Following this was a black and white film of "The Great Sorority Dance." Again the audience responded favorably.

Many Visitors on Campus.

Last Sunday twenty-five guests, for the most part friends and relatives of the students, took dinner at the College dining hall. Contrary to the idea that the boys think this an isolated spot, visitors seem to find time to look over their State College. In the afternoon automobiles and strangers were met everywhere about the campus, farm buildings and orchards.

James L. Harrington, M.D., a prominent physician of New London, who is quite interested in the College, was among the visitors.

Shakespearean Club Notes.

The annual Freshman smoker was held in the clubroom on the evening of October 25. A number of alumni were present at the gathering.

G. D. Weipert, '18, and N. H. Parcells, '20, were back on the Hill for a few days before leaving to join the aviation corps.
