BLACKGUARDS ON THE STAGE FOR JUNIOR WEEK

WILL PRESENT SHOW ON FRIDAY, MAY 21

Absolutely New Program With Added Features Is Being Arranged

The Blackguards met for the first time since the trip to Norwich, on Thursday evening at 8 o’clock P.M. in Main 7 and decided that they would give an entertainment for the evening of May 21 and contribute their part to the Junior Weew program.

A large number of the minstrels were present and practically all were enthusiastic over being allowed to present another show. Rehearsals for the end men, soloists and specialty men will begin immediately and the chorus will swing into line in about three weeks. There will also be try-outs at a very early date to fill the vacancies in the ranks of the end men.

“Scoop” Manwaring will again hold down the position of interlocutor, and “Frah” Dow, “Bakett” Ricketts, “Bullet-head” Wood, “Buck” Van Buren, “Lou” Alexander and “Connie” Mahoney will be at the ends, though the last two are uncertain due to the fact that they are on the baseball squad.

Plans are now under way for the assembling of the program, and a new and novel show will be the result. Those expecting the same old kind of minstrel, will be wrong, because the “Blackguards” will attempt a decided change from the old form minstrel, though burnt cork will be featured as in the past.

This show will completely finance the purchase of the memorial tablet for Gardner Dow, which will be dedicated on Alumni Day.

TO BE HELD IN THE SHAKESPEAREAN ROOM

Second Informal Party Held by 1921 This Year

On the the evening of Wednesday, April 14th, the Junior Class will hold a smoker and social in the College Shakespearean Room.

The purpose of the affair is to get the men of the class together to talk over activities and enjoy an informal gathering which invariably strengthens class and college spirit.

EXCHANGES

The University of Vermont will soon begin a subscription drive for a large Student Memorial Building.

CAMPUS GETS NEW OFFICE IN KOONS HALL

ROOM 41 WILL BE CAMPUS HEADQUARTERS

Central Location of Office Will Aid Greatly in Putting Out Paper

The “Campus” will move into its new office in Koons Hall some time during the coming week as the board has turned over the room in the north tower of the Armory to Mr. R. I. Longley to use for quarters for the dormitory janitors.

The new office of the publication is Room 14 Koons Hall, in the fourth section of the dormitory and the whole suite will be equipped with desks and bookcases. The main room of the suite will be equipped with desks and tables for the use of the members of the board and the staff and in this room all of the business of circulation and mailing will be carried on.

One of the assistant managing editors will also have a desk in the same room. In one of the two smaller rooms of the suite will be the desks of the Editor-in-Chief and the Managing Editor and in the other the Business Manager, Advertising Manager and Sports Editor, will make their headquarters.

The plans for the complete equipment of these offices have been formulated but will soon be taken up at a meeting of the board.

The room in Koons Hall will serve only as a temporary office of the “Campus” as it is hoped that in the near future the dormitory space will not be so seriously lacking as it is at present so that certain rooms in administration buildings which are now being used to house students will be released for the use of student organizations.

Bring Back Bottles

At the present time the Dairy Department is very short of milk bottles, and if the bottles that the students have stored in the dormitories are not returned within a few days the Department will be forced to discontinue selling milk to the students.

If the Dairy is to continue to sell milk to the faculty and its other regular customers it must not allow any of the small supply of bottles that it now has to lie idle in dormitories. The Department is willing to sell milk to the students who should in turn be willing to return the bottles.

A little more thoughtfulness and cooperation on the part of the students would remedy this serious matter very easily.
ATHLETIC COUNCIL WILL HAVE TO RAISE MORE MONEY FOR BASEBALL SEASON

Athletes are costing more this year than ever before. Transportation rates have increased and equipment has shown a great increase in price: December, 1917, basketballs were $6.85; today they are $20.00. 1919 baseballs were $1.00 a dozen, whereas as they are now $1.50. On top of all this increase in actual price of equipment, we also pay a 19 percent war tax.

The above should show pretty conclusively why it is necessary for the committee to ask for more money to support athletes here at C. A. C.

Diamond Will be in Condition For Use in a Few Days

The much heralded Interclass Indoor Track Meet was held in the Gymnasium, Saturday afternoon, March 27th at 4 o'clock P.M. and the Freshmen team won the meet with a score of 40-12 points. The Seniors came second with 28-1-2 points and the Freshmen and Sophomores were tied at twenty points. Dave Levy starred for the Freshmen. Voorhees, Lilley and Beardsley were also good point-getters for the first place.

It was perhaps the best meet of its kind ever seen at Connect'cut. The rivalry between the classes was keen and intense. Each man put into the games all the stamina he possessed to bring his team to the top.

At 2:30 many contestants appeared eager to show their Olympic ability. Supporters of the four teams were present in numbers as well as other interested non-competitants. The advantage of a large gymnasium was apparent.

The first event was the 35 yd. dash on the Armory floor. This was followed by the High Jump, Shot Put, Standing Broad Jump and Pole Vault, on the track. The events were run off at the same time that the other contests were being performed on the floor. All races except the 2 mile and the 35 yd. dash were run against time. The 2 mile run was the best in point of interest.

The finish was close, D. Graf coming in first with Wood just nosing out Goodrich.

The highest individual score of the day was obtained by Gleason, '20. Hopwood, '29, won second place and Wooster of the Sophomores and Levy a Freshman was tied for third place.

The Senior team consisted of Hopwood, Gleason and Goodrich.

The Meet was enjoyed by everyone by the Sophomores. The largest team was put on by the Freshmen. It contained some very excellent men.

The surprises of the meet were Goodrich's loss of the 1-2 mile run. Wood's excellent showing in the 2 mile. Dossin's work with the pole and Gronwall's and Voorhees' high jumping also excited comment.

Professor Lamson acted as starter.

Professor Hollister and Coach Swartz were assisted by E. Moore and Griswold. Announcement, Blewars, Scorers, Maier.

PROF. LAMSON ENTERTAINS

Professor Lamson entertained the members of the Entomology classes at a home a week ago Thursday evening March 25th. During the evening the Japanese beetle project which is being carried on in New Jersey, was discussed. At the Entomological school will obtain appointments for special work in this project during the summer. He also gave the men many valuable hints and advice concerning the work they were to do in New Jersey. Other insects and their destruction of wheat was discussed with great interest and the party adjourned at a late hour.

BASEBALL TEAM WORKS DURING EASTER RECESS

FRESHMEN TAKE FIRST HONORS IN SPRING TRACK MEET

SENIORS FORGET DIGNITY AND WIN TWO HIGHEST SCORES FOR INDIVIDUALS. JUNIORS AND SOPHOMES TIE
The Nutmeg is well on its way to completion and a large part of the material to be used in the biggest book ever attempted is in the hands of the printer in New Haven. The board has then under active in the last week as it is the desire of the members to have the last of the copy in the printer’s hands by next Wednesday.

The book will contain between two hundred and two hundred and twenty-five pages of pictures, cartoons and reading matter of the large faculty section run in the last year book has been cut down to five pages and only pictures of heads of departments will appear. The grades sections will be on the same plan as of old, but this year will see the first real, live athletic section, which in the 1920 book will take thirty-four pages.

Mr. Dinneen of Willimantic, the official “Nutmeg” photographer will make his last visit to the Campus by the time this paper has gone to press and the last opportunity to present pictures, jokes, alphabets and grinds will be on Tuesday.

As there seems to be a great amount of interest in alumni circles about the yearbook, the “Nutmeg” board plans to consult with the Alumni Day committee and give the alumni a chance to subscribe to the book which will have a limited publication. According to the editor, any alumni may procure a book by just sending his order to William Maloney, the manager of the board, who will see that it is saved for him. The alumni can pay for the books on alumni day, at which time they will be delivered. This policy will be different from the manner of handling circulation among the students, as the students have been paying on the installment plan and have most of the subscriptions already paid for.

BATTALION TO STAND Inspection NEXT WEEK

Northeastern Department Officer Will Inspect R. O. T. C. Unit

The R. O. T. C. Battalion will be inspected by Lieutenant Colonel Guy G. Palmer, who is officer-in-charge of R. O. T. C. affairs in the Northeastern Department Headquarters at Boston, on Wednesday afternoon, April 14.

The inspection program will consist of the school of the squad, company, etc., and closed and open order drill. Classes will be suspended for members of the unit during the afternoon of inspection day.

Colonel Palmer is not a stranger to Connecticut as he inspected the battalion, then under Major Herbert Wright, last year.

INDICATIONS POINT TO A BIG ALUMNI DAY

QUARTERING OF VISITORS WILL BE BIG PROBLEM

Favorable Replies to Junior Invitation Are Swamping Committee

According to Chairman Carlton Austin of the Alumni Day committee, the replies to the recent alumni letter have been many, and indications now point to a record breaking crowd of “old-timers” on the Hill on May 22.

In fact the replies which were favorable have been so many that the Chairman of the Junior Prom. Committee, J. P. Johnson, has advised those on the campus who intend to have guests for the dance to make reservations for housing immediately. It is more than likely that the quartering of the Alumni Day visitors will be as big a problem as was High School Day last year.

In solving the problem, the fraternities are anticipating to play an important part and the committee will determine at an early date how many of each fraternity can take care of Alumni Day. The faculty cottages and local houses will also, without doubt, contribute some space to the amount necessary.

The alumni day committee is very desirous of getting as many replies as possible in order that they may give those who intend to be present alumni day a chance to get full particulars about the holiday. Those former students who make reply to the circular letter will receive more information immediately.

There will be posted on the bulletin board in the Main Building a list, supplemented each day to keep it up to date, of all alumni who have sent favorable replies to the invitation of the Junior Class to be present during Junior Week.

CAST FOR THE JUNIOR PLAY HAS BEEN PITCHED

Many of the Players are in Dramatic Club

The first rehearsal for the Junior play “Nothing but the Truth,” will be called very soon as the cast for the show was picked just before the Easter vacation. Many Juniors tried out for the role and Director Paul N. Manwaring, ’26, picked the following cast:

- Bob .............. Everett D. Dow
- Mr. Ralston .......... Frederick C. Maier
- Van Dusen .......... Perry Wallace
- Dick ............... E. Selden Clark
- Gwen ............... Salome Smith
- Mrs. Ralston ......... Agnes Sehaller
- Ethel ............. Mary Dwyer
- Mabel ............ Frances Bristol
- Sabel ............. Dorothy Mass
- Martha ............... Marian Nutting

The cast, many persons of which are members of the Dramatic Club, should prove competent to handle the play, which has had a very popular run in the last few years.

FORESTRY NOT TO BE MAJOR NEXT YEAR

Lack of Funds Will Prevent Extensive Planting

At a recent faculty meeting it was decided that forestry could not be made a major subject next year because this would mean the hiring of another instructor. However, the same course will be given next year as is given present and another course may possibly be added.

The lack of appropriations will prevent the very extensive planting of forest trees this year, but there is a project under way for reforesting the cleared land surrounding the new College water supply.

The state has bought a tract of land near the “Pink Cemetery” as a site for the proposed water supply and there are about fifteen acres of pasture and cleared land on the watershed. This land cannot be cultivated because of the danger of contaminating the water but it can be utilized to grow a crop of timber which will prevent erosion and will eventually pay a profit on the investment.

While and red pine seedlings are to be used, they are both adapted to this region, and furnish a desirable quality of lumber. Prices for the seedlings and estimates of the cost of planting are now being obtained, and it is hoped that the work will be done within a few weeks.

Many have girdled several of the young pines in the planting between Whitney Hall and Mr. Blake’s office and many fruit trees in the vicinity have suffered from the same injury.

GET CREDIT FOR CONNECTICUT

That the State College of one of the oldest states in the Union should be so little known in the larger towns and cities of that State is a fact which brings disgust with realization. The superficial disadvantages of this ignorance of Connecticut's population are not the fault of the people in a town not ten miles away know us as Storrs Farm School there is something wrong somewhere. Should a student know that he attends the Connecticut State College in some parts of the state, he is likely to be asked, "Where is that place?" It is surprising that this should be the case in some quarters. Some know us as the place where all the eggs are laid, and so on. In view of what we have here, what we are doing, what we have done and what we are going to do, the name of Connecticut State should be as much in the mouths of the people of Connecticut as that of any other college in the East.

There is no necessity for us to be so deceptively modest. We have nothing much to be ashamed of and much to be proud of. Let us uncover the doings of our hillside to the surrounding country and we will soon have the throngs looking up at us. Not that we desire praise or flattery. But if we do we deserve it. What other body does not have a chance to discuss the merits of the question as to whether we should cut a track team out of vision or be satisfied with the sports which we have here at present. The athletic council is the last word in our athletic world, but it has usually been the A. A. body that has had the first word. In this case they had no say at all.

If we've got to fight for a track now and in spite of the hardships, the only way is to go at it and not talk about poor publicity when things go against us. We may possibly win something, even though the team will be undeveloped. But one thing is certain, the persons who organize any track teams will have the strongest stand of his. Connecticut has a large body of men in our college who are interested in athletics and which cannot be seen at a glance. All men are created equal only to a certain extent. Therefore, Judge not that ye be not judged.

THE WEST POINT "BRA"Y has added a pictorial section to its issue.

here. What has been written in this editorial, every student knows as well as he knows what day we have ice cream at the Dining Hall. It has been mentioned before, been mentioned again till results appear. Every student should do all he or she can to reveal the college as it is to the people of the state. The Campus should use the influence it possesses along this line. Various organizations on the Hill could do more for their cause if they are doing more than be called a "School" long enough.

MORE ATHLETICS

Very recently, Connecticut all of a sudden blossomed out in still another branch of athletics, making five games in all, for the athletic council approved the arrangement of a dual meet between Massachusetts Agricultural College and Connecticut and Springfield Y. M. C. A. College and Connecticut sometime this spring, the dual meet coming first. And now the boys are out working and training to get in condition.

A track glance one day cried Hooray! we are going to have a track team, but then on second or second glance, he might wonder if the spot recently taken was advisable. Many of the students and faculty have stated that one of the ailments at Connecticut was over-organization, yet in past six weeks, tennis and track have been added to the list.

It is no doubt that the men with track ability will do their best, which is to be commended. But many of the men who will represent Connecticut on the track are even now overburdened with athletic games now represented by varsity teams. It is said we have very good material. Undoubtedly, but track men are not developed. With Sport and Mountain our members are not being trained for athletic activities. Track will meet with trained teams which are upholding reputations.

It also seems rather a shame that the Athletic Association as a body did not have a chance to discuss the merits of the question as to whether we should cut a track team out of vision or be satisfied with the sports which we have here at present. The athletic council is the last word in our athletic world, but it has usually been the A. A. body that has had the first word. In this case they had no say at all.

If we've got to fight for a track now and in spite of the hardships, the only way is to go at it and not talk about poor publicity when things go against us. We may possibly win something, even though the team will be undeveloped. But one thing is certain, the persons who organize any track teams will have the strongest stand of his. Connecticut has a large body of men in our college who are interested in athletics and which cannot be seen at a glance. All men are created equal only to a certain extent. CAMPUS FIGURES WRONG

DEAR MR. EDITOR:
I once visited a meeting where farmers were talking over the formula for curing bacon. The Commissioner of Agriculture was present, and he assured them that they were doing a first-class job, the bacon was first-rate, and they need not be afraid of any complaints from the consumer. They were very pleased with the information. The Commissioner concluded his speech by saying, "Yes, gentlemen, the bacon is first-rate, but you must remember that it is not the bacon alone that makes a good meal, but the pig and the farmer, too. You must take care that your pigs are fed properly and that you have a good farmer to look after them, as well as a good bacon curing process."

This statement expressed my feelings when I read the following article in the Connecticut Agricultural College bulletin:

"Active Students Have High Scholarship," by E. T. Dobbs, Associate Professor of Agriculture. The article claims that active students have a higher scholarship rating than non-active students. The article discusses various factors that contribute to this phenomenon, such as the students' involvement in extracurricular activities and their overall commitment to academic excellence.

This is an important observation, and it highlights the importance of extracurricular activities in the academic success of students. However, it is essential to consider the broader context of the claim. While being active in campus life can positively impact academic performance, it is essential to examine other factors, such as socioeconomic background, academic motivation, and other personal and environmental variables, that may contribute to academic success.

Dear Editor,
I believe that the article in the Connecticut Agricultural College bulletin overlooks the complexity of the relationship between extracurricular activities and academic success. While being active on campus can positively influence academic achievement, it is crucial to recognize the various factors that influence academic performance. These factors include students' socioeconomic background, academic motivation, and other personal and environmental variables.

Furthermore, it is essential to consider the potential limitations of the article's claims. The article assumes a linear relationship between extracurricular activities and academic success, which may not always hold true. Students who are active on campus may also face challenges, such as increased stress levels and time management issues, that could negatively impact their academic performance.

In conclusion, while the article's claims highlight the importance of extracurricular activities in academic success, it is crucial to recognize the broader context and other factors that influence academic performance. The article should be viewed as a starting point for further research and discussion.

INTER-FRAT TOURNAMENT

NEARING GRAND FINALE

Non-Frat Men Loom up as Possible Winners

The interfraternity bowling tournament, which started a few weeks ago, is progressing rapidly. Only two more matches remain on the schedule.

On March 19th the Phi Epsilon Pi defeated the Phi Mu Delta in a very close match. March 22nd the Eta Lambda Sigma defeated the Alpha Phi without much difficulty. March 22nd the Frat beat the Sigma Alpha Pi and on March 29th the Non-Frat defeated the College Shakespearean Club.

There are two more matches still on the schedule. On April 9th the Eta Lambda Sigma will roll the Phi Epsilon Pi and on April 12th the winning team will roll the Non-Frat men for the championship.

NEW COLLEGE WATER SUPPLY MAY BE REALIZED

Will Dam Stream Near "Pink" Cemetery

The College is to have a new water supply in addition to the present arrangement, if plans made last year to be carried out this spring. The state has bought a tract of land in Mansfield near the "Pink Cemetery," with a good stream flowing through it. The college and Mansfield Training School with water. For some time past a pump on this stream has been furnishing the Training School with water to supplement their inadequate supply.

Three pumps are to be installed at the reservoir, one to furnish water to the College, one to the Training School and one for a reservoir. A chlorination plant will be put in and all the water treated with chlorine gas before it is used. This will kill disease germs and prevent contamination of the water.

It is estimated that the new supply will furnish enough water for the entire campus area of the College, without using the pump and well at the main building at all. A line of pipe was dropped last fall from the Dining Hall as far as the road branching off to the "Pink Cemetery," and as soon as the weather permits, work will begin on the new dam and reservoir.

Reports were given by the Chairman and the plans were discussed informally by the committee. The advisability of planting the tree in April and then dedicating it during Junior Week was proposed but it was decided that the ceremony of the planting should take place during Junior Week. The holding of a Company Competitive Drill on Alumni Day was discussed. For a committee on the College Sing, Ruth M. Burghardt was proposed. William P. Maloney was appointed chairman of the Executive Committee.

A Radio Club has been organized at Storrs Tech. The individual members own enough equipment to put up a receiving set and an aerial to be erected on one of the institute buildings. A transmitting apparatus will be added as soon as the club gets on its feet.

JUNIOR SHORT COURSE COMES THIS SUMMER

May Serve as Inducement to High School Students

In cooperation with the College Departments the Extension Service has made plans for a Junior Short Course to be held from July 26 to 31. C. G. McBride of Pennsylvania will assist with the courses.

Thirty-five boys and girls have already won their scholarships for the course and undoubtedly many more will do likewise before the schools close. A detailed outline of the courses will be given out within a short time.

The Extension Department and College officials believe that this Junior Short Course is one of the best advertisements for the college as it gives the boys and girls a first hand knowledge of the work of the various departments and induces many of them to enroll for a two or a four-year course. Emma Reed and Marion Toole, who are now freshmen in the Home Economics course, were in last year's Junior Short Course classes. Several more of the old Short Course students have stated that they intend to enroll in the four years courses of the college.

Last year the "Campus" helped to make the course interesting and worth while to the students that came up here. One hundred copies were given to the youngsters and the following week the Extension Department sent out three hundred copies containing the accounts of the week's work.

FARMERS' WEEK IS FIRST WEEK IN AUGUST

Plans have already been made for Farmers' Week to be held at the Connecticut Agricultural College from August 2 to 6, inclusive. Wednesday, August 4th, will be Farmers' Day, the big day of the week. S. L. Strivings, vice-president of the American Federation of Farm Bureaus will be the principal speaker of the day. Mr. Strivings is a very intelligent and interesting speaker.

During the week there will be special demonstrations from the various departments of the college.

In general the plans for the week will be similar to those carried out last year. The live stock parade and the sheep drive that were so successful last year will be repeated.

CONDITIONS IN COLLEGE DINING HALL IMPROVING

Dining Hall conditions at the college have improved quite appreciably in the past two weeks. The roaches have been effectively exterminated. An effort is being made by the dietician, Miss V. Z. Taft, to cut down expenses. One side, or half of the cafeteria counter has been closed, thus reducing the student help practically fifteen percent. The fare itself has also changed for the better. A greater variety is being offered and students are complaining less every day.
