CONNECTICUT LOSES DEBATE TO SPRINGFIELD

TWO PHILIPPINES MAKE STRONG PLEA

Facts and Arguments Presented by Connecticut Favored by Audience

By a judges' decision of two to one the Connecticut Debating team lost its initial encounter of the year to Springfield College at Springfield on February 10. The debate was held at seven o'clock in the main lecture room of Social Hall, and was well attended by visitors and students from the two colleges.

Springfield Has Affirmative Side

The question for debate was: Resolved; That the Philippine Islands should be granted their independence within two years. The Springfield team had the affirmative side of the question, and argued that since the people had proved their ability to govern themselves by the way they had taken advantage of educational opportunities offered them, they were qualified for independence, and it should be given them.

The Connecticut team on the negative side argued that the Philippines should have their independence, but that they were not ready for it yet.

The Springfield College was represented by George McCourt, Serenio Aquino, and Pedro Alban; and Connecticut's team consisted of Russell A. Palen, '24, Andrew Schenker, '22, and Samuel A. Fair, '23. Joseph L. Rivkin '23 was chosen on the original team for Connecticut, but was unable to debate on account of being sick, so that Schenker took his place on the team. Harry Commins, of last year's debating team acted as alternate for Connecticut at Springfield.

Two Filippineos Debate.

Alban and Aquino of the Springfield team are both native Philippines, and their emotional appeal for the independence of their countrymen carried considerable weight with the official judges. The facts and arguments presented by the Connecticut team seemed to find more favor with a majority of the audience.

H. A. Mountain of Springfield was chairman of the debate, and the judges were A. J. Irving, Principal of Bucking­ ham School, G. W. Douglas, Headmaster of Willibrandom Academy and Charles F. Darner, Principal of Springfield Technical High School.

MONTIETH CONCERT TO BE GIVEN ON MARCH 9

PROCEEDS WILL BE GIVEN TO PORTRAIT FUND

Original Idea of Concert Suggested by Professor Monteith's Daughter.

Arrangements for the Monteith Concert, one of the high class series of the year, are rapidly nearing completion. March 9 has been set for the presentation of the concert.

This entertainment will be given for the benefit of the Monteith portrait fund. The students of the college secured an artist at the beginning of the year to paint the portrait of Henry Rustiven Monteith, professor emeritus of the college and are contributing to the fund through the work of their student activities. The Dramatic Club has already pledged $100 toward the fund. The faculty and alumni also intend to make liberal donations.

Miss Monteith's Idea

The original idea of the concert was suggested by Miss I. Monteith, daughter of Professor Monteith, and she is presenting the entertainment as her personal contribution toward the painting of her father's portrait.

Miss I. Monteith has spared no effort in securing the best talent for the instrumental and vocal selections on the program. As a teacher in the Conservatory of Music in Hartford she is in a position to obtain instrumentalists and singers well worth hearing.

At her studio in Hartford yesterday Miss Monteith said that she also planned to have a well known reader as one of the features of the program to interpose between the instrumental and vocal selections.

In the past Miss Monteith has been greatly interested in the student musical clubs of the college and a few years ago supervised one of the orchestras of the college that has ever had. She is always very much at home at Storrs and understands how to please the musical ear of student audiences.

First Instrumental Concert

This will be the first entertainment of this kind that the year has seen. The students in charge of the affair expect to make it the big success of the year. Through the wide publicity which will be given the concert throughout the state the students intend to bring the fact of the Monteith portrait to the public and prospects seem to point to a large and varied audience on the evening of March 9.

PROF. DAVIS ADDRESSES EASTERN FEED MERCHANTS

EDITORIAL APPEARS IN TRADE JOURNAL

Attaches Great Importance to Speech of Connecticut's Extension Worker.

Professor I. G. Davis, professor of agricultural economics spoke before a conference of eastern feed merchants at Binghamton, N. Y., yesterday, on the subject of the costs of conducting a retail feed and grain store.

An advance editorial on the conference appeared in the February number of Flour and Feed, as follows:

Speaker on the Program

"Part of the program for the Binghamton meeting has just been announced by Secretary Frank C. Jones and it gives promise of satiating the hungry minds of the most inquisitive among the feed merchants of the east. There is one number on the program that will be worth several times the money it will cost any dealer to attend the conference. That number is the address to be delivered by Prof. Davis of the Connecticut Agricultural College on the study being made of the costs of conducting a retail feed and grain store. A year ago "Flour and Feed" pointed out the first and most important work that any organization in this trade could do would be to investigate and determine the cost factors entering into the retailing of feeds and to disseminate proper cost knowledge among the retail feed merchants of the country. Shortly after the editorial appeared announcement was made that the Eastern Federation of Feed Merchants had made arrangements to cooperate with the Connecticut Agricultural College in determining the cost of operating a retail feed store. Prof. Davis will report on the work accomplished thus far.

Proper Cooperation Needed

If the Eastern Federation of Feed Merchants never does another thing beyond determining and disseminating a proper knowledge of the cost of conducting a retail feed business its achievement in this one thing would gain for it undying memory in the feed trade. Proper cooperation of the feed merchants will make that achievement possible, as those who attend the Binghamton meeting will be shown. By the time Prof. Davis gets through with his address the retailers in that audience will have been started on a train of thought that they will follow up when they get back to their places of business. Undoubtedly there will be a number who will be severely

DEATH COMES SUDDENLY ON VISIT TO FLORIDA

Death Comes Suddenly, Florida.-Col. William H. Hall, of South Wil­lington, Conn., and a former trustee of the Conn. Agricultural College died suddenly last Tuesday at Daytona, Fla., as the result of heart disease. He had been in Fla., only two weeks where he had planned a holiday for about one month.

In Fifty-First Year.

Colonel Hall was born in South Wil­lington May 5, 1867. He was the son of the late Gardiner Hall, who estab­lished the thread manufacturing busi­ness in that community. Colonel Hall succeeded to the management of the business on the death of his father several years ago, and continued to control the business up to the time of his death.

Colonel Hall was educated at the Willimantic high school and at Wil­braham Academy where he prepared for college. In 1892 he was graduated from Wesleyan university. He was a director of the Berkshire Cotton com­pany, the Windham Silk company, the Stafford Worsted company, the Willi­mantic Textile company, and the Staff­ford National bank of Stafford Springs.

Record for Assembly Service.

It is believed that Colonel Hall held the record for service to the state as a member of the general assembly. He was a member of the house in nine sessions and he represented his dis­trict in the senate in three sessions.

In the constitutional convention he was the chairman of the committee on contingent expenses. His ripe experi­ence as a legislator and his knowledge of state affairs made him a valuable member of the various committees on which he served and his colleagues in committees valued his opinions and ap­preciated his loyal co-operation.

He gave particular attention to agricul­tural matters and in the legislature he took a prominent part in the passage of measures for the encouragement of agriculture in Connecticut. He took particular interest in agricultural fairs and he worked hard to place the man­agement of fairs on a high level.

Friendship for Lake.

For years there has been a strong personal and political friendship be­tween Colonel Hall and Governor Lake. Colonel Hall was a member of the state convention of a decade ago when (Cont. on page 8, col. 2)

Playing in the same whirlwind style as that which gave them a victory over the Army last December, Captain Alexander and his men defeated Springfield 24-23 Friday night in the "City of Homes."

Alex's all-around work was the outstanding feature of the contest. As usual, he not only played a stellar game himself, but directed the play of his mates in great style.

Captain Bennett, Springfield's fast forward, was on the sidelines with a bad knee. This handicapped the Bay Staters to some extent, as Oosting, playing in Bennett's place, missed several easy shots and did not work to the best advantage with his running mate, Guyer.

The game was close throughout. Connecticut managed to keep slightly ahead until near the end, when the Connecticut managed to keep slightly dropped in three double counters defeat into another Aggie victory.

At half time the Aggie machine was considerably weakened at a time when strength was needed most.

The Aggies entered the contest as slight favorites but it did not take the Trinity basketeers long to demonstrate that they were a factor to be reckoned with. Under the leadership of Capt. "Louie" Alexander and the white machine started the fray in an aggressive manner and for the first few minutes of play the Aggies had things practically their own way. An extremely close guarding game resulted in twenty-three fouls being called in the first half, 13 of these fouls must be charged to Trinity and ten to the losers, dropping in three field goals,

The form displayed by the Trinity five was a big surprise to the Blue and White followers who were on hand in large numbers. The work of Keating and Canner at forwards for the Trinity machine was of a high order, Keating caging three of the seven goals scored.

The inability of the Aggie five to make its shots count seemed to take the heart of the defense and as a result the Trinity five had the ball in its possession for the best part of the frame.

Captain Alexander was again the big gun of the Aggie offense, weaving

Another victory was added to the list of freshmans winnings last Monday when they defeated the juniors by a score of 21-19. Opponents Depended On Long Shots and Sank Eleven in the Basket

Massachusetts Aggies sprang a surprise on Coach Tasker's speedy outfit when they handed them a bad beating in the small Amherst court Saturday afternoon. Connecticut was a thorough favorite, having defeated the Massachussets boys 31-13 in Hawley Armory last month, but the up-staters turned the tables in a rough and laxy refereed game.

As in the previous contest, Massachussets depended almost entirely on long shots from the center of the floor, out of reach of the opposing guards. How well this plan succeeded is shown by the fact that they sunk in field goals, while the blue and white had to content themselves with four.

Lumey had a slight margin over Alexander on the foul line, making seventeen of twelve tries this game.

The tall Connecticut captain dropped in nine of his fifteen attempts.

Four men played at right forward for the Storm five. Kraen, who re lieved Ganem just before the whistle blew, scored the last basket of the game.

The co-eds seem to be getting a lot of attention these days. Let us hope it will not turn their bobbed heads.

If any more discussion comes in on the subject, the Campus will have to extend its Safety Valve columns.

No matters what happens though Kampus Klips must still have its column of space.

None of the gentlemen on the Campus Board received Valentines from Holcomb Hall. We cannot understand this phenomenon.

We are glad to see that the bookstore did not attempt to sell Valentines during the past season of "billot-dropping". The foundations of the Armory will tremble if not destroyed.

The whole Hill is looking forward to meeting the Masked Devils. If he hits it any harder than he hit the football line last fall, then the very foundations of the Armory will tremble and quake.

The fourth factor —

In a broad classification four factors may be said to operate on the "Hill"—the intellectual factor, the athletic factor, the social factor, the religious or "clerical" factor. A boy enters college to improve his mind, his body, his personality and his character. He matures as he proceeds and by the time he graduates, he is a man.

To shape and mould the boy for a man's career is the service of the world. Various forces are brought into action—directly and indirectly, regulated and unregulated.

Some of these forces are put in motion, unwittingly, usually, by the boy himself and they react on him and cause him to go where he will.

In the midst of these forces the boy is grasping the greatest opportunities in the world. Great importance is attached to the presentation and use of these opportunities, on account of society offers them for the purpose of attaining a great and magnificent end.

The opportunities are not always with men lost, because of neglect. On the contrary, it is made up of men, not gods.

The boy does not always make good use of his opportunities. He is only a boy.

The form in which these opportunities is presented and used, is not the same in all countries, nations, localities. The American educational processes, particularly in the peculiar ideas, traditions and aims of the nation. The educational forces are also warped by the exigencies and positions of the age in which they operate. Moreover, the boy does not conform with rigidity to the ideas of a passing generation of men.

The institutional church.

At the present time, in America, the factors—intellectual, athletic, social and religious are under keen investigation. Men savants are maintaining that the athletic factor is assuming a dangerous prominence.

These declare that the intellectual and moral factors are losing their power.

As a unit in the system of higher learning we may study the phenomena that are apparently occurring.

Can the fourth factor be designated as weak here, from an educational viewpoint? The students attend classes, the men attend dances, they attend all of them, but only a few of them attend church.

The professor may teach an idealism in the classroom and very often the Dramatics Club has been rehearsing for the last three times a year and would not come to the football game.

The unfinished work of the Drama Club makes a fool out of the Aggie boy.

Given a set of instructions to follow out, the unhappy undergraduate in the world. Great importance is attached to the carrying out of the instruction. It is possible to hold many of the realities under these conditions, it is absolutely necessary that some of the time be spent in acquainting the cast with the acoustic properties of the inner regions.

The Aggies are absent. The fish in the sea.

But the boys in my frat Made a fool of me.

These are the things to itself dolorously as he pictures the process of initiation in progress. But after the fireworks are all shot off and the "captains and the kings depart" he discovers that it wasn't so bad after all and he begins to see the experience and pride and brashness.

One thought, however, goes through every one of his well-padded carcasses and this other thought he can do with what he is going to do to the fellows that he has a chance to initiate. And so it goes.

President Acheson speaks at assembly

Col. W. H. Hall was first appointed a trustee of the College in 1902 to fill the unexpired term of William Holman. In 1919 he was appointed by Gov. Holcomb to serve as a trustee for a period of four years.

Two buildings on the campus, Koosn Hall named in memory of a former president and Holcomb Hall named in honor of our war Governor was secured for the College as a result of the personal interest and influence of Col. W. H. Hall.

Col. Hall had a host of warm personal friends and deserved them. He found much pleasure in planning for and doing things for others. He was public spirited, interested in the affairs of his neighbors, the community and the state.

In the death of Henry Hall the state has lost an intelligent and public spirited citizen and the College has lost a valued friend.

The long awaited football banquet was held last evening, Feb. 24, and some outstanding business meetings have been worked out, which it is hoped, will make it a big success.

Intercollegiate athletics are usually carried out on one of three plans. The highest and most desirable plan calls for friendly rivalry, the more in tense, the better, but with the true sportsman's instinct paramount. The second plan includes contests carried out on the principle that "We must win." The third plan would include all contests in which the spirit of abso-olute antagonistic rivalry was the impelling motive.

A combination of the last two, no matter how undesirable, is undoubtedly too commonly in evidence in all types of athletic contests, and no doubt may ascribe to an over intense feeling of friendly rivalry. In any contest, especially basketball, it is fairly easy to overstep the bounds of good sportsmanship, whatever the prompting motive may be.

The success of any athletic contest, viewed from the angle of straight sportsmanship depends to a large extent on the calibre of the official handling the game. On his decisions hinges the question as to the type of game played. If he is not keen enough or fast enough to follow any of the contending teams on either of the contending teams are naturally prompted to "get away with something." If they have the additional incentive of a coaches instructions "to Rough it up" or to "get that man" or the rankling memory of a previous defeat, it is a certainty that a strict official is required to handle the content. Not a man who has long ago passed the active stage who can follow every play and every man at the same time.

We cannot remember an instance where a basketball official on the Hawley armory floor made decisions which were protested by visiting teams.
Nor can we remember a game which the referee allowed to get out of his hands. The management has always taken pains to see that a competent official be on hand to handle the game, usually bringing either Dillon or Brennan of Hartford, two of the strictest officials in the state. It has paid, for never has a visiting team gone away from the Hawley armory with the feeling that there would have been a different story if - - - - !

The Aggie quintet on its return from the M. A. C. contest did not entertain fond memories of the encounter. Several of the squad bore body bruises that would have been legitimate only in a hard fought football game. Several incidents as related to Coach Tasker's quintet before they struck the drill hall of the Bay State institution were given little credence by the Blue and White followers, but during and after Saturday afternoon's affair, the viewpoint of the locals underwent a complete change.

Coach Tasker's charges are to be congratulated for their desire to play basketball on the highest plane. It will be a serious matter if the athletic relations between Mass. Aggie and Conn. Aggie should become strained because of the inability or lack of desire on the part of the Bay State officials to observe the tenets of sportsmanship when they are broken as consistently and openly as in Saturday afternoon's contest at Amherst.

No credit should be taken away from Trinity for the exhibition at Hartford Wednesday night. The team played a hard fast game and little of that petty fouling which has marred previous contests with the Trinity five was in evidence.

Taking account of stock in our own yard is not such a rosy proposition.
Our contention is that if a certain few of the "regulars" would observe the fundamentals of training and give a little thought to the fact that their position in the varsity is by no means a life calling; nor is a pension for the home for the aged and decrepit supposed to accompany elevation to the varsity squad. Unless there is some real hustling by certain members of Coach Tasker's five it is apparent that a change in the lineup must follow.

AGGIE ALUMNUS GOES TO CONSTANTINOPLE
Dr. J. H. Evans to work With Near East Relief

Dr. J. H. Evans of the class of 1896 and a graduate of the Harvard Medical School is one of the several physicians of the east who sailed on Feb. 14 for Constantinople to undertake work in one of the many hospitals managed by the Near East Relief. Dr. Evans formerly resided in Norwich but later moved to New York where he was a practising physician for several years.

On the entrance of the United States into the world war, Dr. Evans enlisted in the medical corps with the rank of lieutenant and was shortly afterwards promoted to captain. He served with distinction in many of the Imperial campaigns overseas and was senior member of operating team 210. After returning from France Captain Evans was in charge of the operating department for infected gunshot wounds, and later served as post surgeon at Forts Canavell and McPherson.

Capt. Evans, resigned from the army last year and has since resided his new work. The near east relief in Norwich before leaving to take up maintains its overseas headquarters in the back of the neck. This was the

MEDIATOR CONSTITUTION TO BE CHANGED

In the Future Only Fraternity Matters will be Dealt With

Chas. H. Ferriss, president of the Mediotor has appointed the following committee to change the constitution of that organisation, Paul L. Putnam, chairman, representing Eta Lambda Sigma, Herbert F. Webb representing the College Shakespearean Club, Robert H. Mathewson representing Alpha Phi, and Robert A. Johnson representing Sigma Alpha Pi.

The main point to be brought up for consideration is the relation of the Mediator to matters other than interfraternity affairs. It is planned to give over matters regarding the freshman rules and action on freshmen who have broken college traditions to the student council.

At present, one phase of the Mediator's duty is to promote the interest of the Connecticut Agricultural College and to settle all disputes that may arise concerning the student body. In the future the Mediator will attend only to matters immediately concerning the fraternities, such as drawing up rushing rules, determining the pledge dates and running the interfraternity bowling and pool tournaments.

It is proposed to make the Mediator entirely a fraternity body. The Mediator feels that it is the duty of the Student Council to settle all disputes concerning the student body, according to the members of the constitution committee.

NEW FORM OF MONDAY NIGHT DIVERSION BEGUN

Four Exciting Bouts Amuse Spectators

Last Monday night "Kid" Castiglione put the gloves on with "Cyclone" Ricketts for 3 one minute rounds. In the first round "Casty" drew blood with a left hook on "Rick" nose but "Rick" soon evened the score with some vigorous blows. Things were going fine until "Casty" got sore and knocked Ricketts with a kick at his right knee. It was called a draw by the referees.

In the second bout of the evening "Cootie" Taylor won over "Dick" Dixon on points. It was a fast fight from beginning to end, and although the judges' decision went to "Cootie," he got the worst of the fight, as he was badly winded at the finish.

Owing to the disagreeing of the judges on the third bout, between Jim Cronin and "Bananas" Sneidman, the bout will be fought out next Monday night. It was a good fight and they seemed evenly matched, splitting about even on points.

"Red" fought "Red" in the final bout of the evening which went to "Red" Boyd because "Red" Cohen fouled and was disqualified for hitting in the back of the neck. This was the most technical bout of the evening with less slugging and more science than any of the preceding ones.

To add to the events of Monday evening two wrestling matches were staged in the Armory after the boxing and games. The first match was between George Weiss of the College and Howard, of the School of Agriculture. Weiss held him down until Howard yielded for a release.

The second match was the main feature. Elmore Ashman took on one of the new freshmen, Perry, Ashman succeeded in downing him after several minutes.

These matches are to be held every Monday night and anyone wishing to participate, may do so by leaving their name in the coach's office.

STUDENT COUNCIL ADOPTS THE ADVERTISING CLUB

The first matter brought up by President R. H. Mathewson was the Ad. Club proposed by the Student's Council. The principal officers of this club are president and director in one person, and a secretary and treasurer in one person. The purpose of the club is to place the advertising and publicity of games and activities of the college in the hands of men who know how to advertise. The proposal was adopted by the student body.

In the search of a suitable tradition to replace the Freshmen Banquet, the Pig Roast which caused much excitement two years ago was brought into a highly favorable light.

The committee on the Student Friendship Fund reported ninety-two dollars taken in. More was still to come.

Queer Costumes Were Seen Parading About the Campus

During the past week, several of the mystic organizations of the Hill have been preparing their pledges for membership in their respective fraternities, by that ancient and honored process known as "parading." These organizations, which to the onlooker are a period of rejoicing, and to the candidates—something to be regarded with fear and trepidation.

A female visitor to the college, standing before the entrance in front of Koons Hall, was astonished and dumb-founded to see a fair one exit from the dormitory, light a cigar, and proceed nonchalantly down the walk, wheeling a modern perambulator.

When she recovered, two hours later, the cause of her swooning stood before her with a three-day's beard covered with a liberal coating of Mennen's, the matter was promptly rectified. Talk is still strong of a corpulent youth who paraded around the campus clad in the far famed, but little employed flour barrel. Many of the candidates were obviously dazed by the excitement, for the Hill was the scene of several parades which would have done credit to many of the leading socialists of the day, and a youth also appeared at this place on one clear noon, and proceeded to produce music from an instrument resembling a boiler in which one of the co-eds became lost while trying to locate the source of the sound.

The ride of Paul Revere took place again with the characteristic scenery, but strange to say the noble steed was the song of college and was badly in need of repair.

Much might also be said of the strange communings with sign posts in the suburbs of college community, to which the modern means of transportation has not yet penetrated, or the lonely vigil with stones in the several cemeteries which are in more or less proximity to the Hill but lack of space forbids. Then too, the mighty "blaster-naters" (paddles) were wielded with an energy which amazed the barn cards, and the minds of the candidates, could have been employed to much better advantage swinging a tennis racket.

The worst is over for many of the new men and already several have appeared wearing the insignia of their respective fraternities, with the feeling that they have taken a new lease of life, and that all is not as dark as it appeared to them only a few days before.

MATINEE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Preparations for the mid-year play, "Hit the Trail Holiday," are nearing completion. Costumes have arrived, stage properties have been secured, and the entire scenery to be used is being prepared under the direction of M. J. Farrell.

B. W. ELLIS LECTURES TO AGRICULTURAL CLUB

Explains the Aims of the County Agent

Last Thursday, Feb. 9, the Ag. Club was privileged with an interesting talk by Mr. Benjamin W. Ellis of the Extension Service. He spoke on "The Problems that County Agents are Facing in the Farming of tomorrow", which to the college has been a period of rejoicing, and to the candidates—something to be regarded with fear and trepidation.

The chief effort is to give the farmer more pleasant living conditions, which it does by helping him by bringing his business to an organized basis.

Interest in His College

Colonel Hall in his undergraduate days, is keenly interested in athletic sports. He was a member of the Wesleyan football team for several seasons and was on the two teams that were coached by former President Woodrow Wilson, then professor of history at Wesleyan. He has continued his interest in the affairs of the college since graduation, and for the past ten years has been a member of the board of trustees. Colonel Hall and members of his family have generous contributions made to the college, a gift of $150,000 from the Hall family was given a few years ago towards the cost of a new chemical laboratory.

Colonel Hall gave $25,000 to help finance the successful campaign of the past two years to raise $3,000,000 for Wesleyan.

FORMER TRUSTEE OF C. A. C.

Colonel Hall was a member of the board of trustees of the Connecticut Agricultural College at Storrs. He took a great deal of interest in the affairs of the college and he materially helped by his attention to his duties as trustee in the building up of the institution. It is due to the efforts of Colonel Hall in the state legislature that the college secured the appropriation for the erection of Holcomb Hall, the new women's dormitory. He retained this position as trustee of the college until he retired last month upon his appointment to the board of state prison directors.

The college loses one of its best friends in the death of Colonel Hall as he was deeply interested in the progress of the institution.

MIDYEAR INFORMAL WILL DRAW LARGE CROWD

Many Looking Forward to Friday Night's Dance

About one hundred and forty couples will attend the Mid-Year Informal this Friday evening in Hawley Armory. According to indications on the eve of the dance it will be on a par with its predecessors in every way.

Chairman George V. Hildring of the Decorating Committee said that the usual overhead effect would be obtained by means of blue and white streamers. These will be draped across the roof from one side of the Armory to the other, and will be attached to the lowest woodwork of the running roof. There will be waltzes and three "moonlight" fox trots, while the rest are fox trots.

Boxes have been allotted to the College Shakespearean Club, Phi Ep silon, Sigma Alpha Pi, Alpha Phi, Phi Mu Delta, Eta Lambda Sigma, Cosmos Club, Two Year Club, and Patrons and Patronesses.

Many of the fraternities will give receptions for their members and guests on Saturday afternoon. The Shakespearean Club will have "open house" at the fraternity house all afternoon.

At 8:15 P.M. Saturday the Drama Club presents George M. Cohan's four act success, "Hit the Trail Holliday," in Hawley Armory. There will be dancing after the play.
