GAMMA CHI EPSILON WILL AID ATHLETES

HONORARY FRATERNITY TO ASSIST IN STUDIES

Men Deficient in Any Study May Receive Help from Members of Honorary Body.

Will Watch Marks Throughout Year.

Gamma Chi Epsilon Honorary fraternity has undertaken the task of assisting all men of the college with their studies. This applies especially to the athletes of the college, although any one may receive valuable help from the members of the fraternity. The plan as adopted by the organization will be to obtain a list of all men who are receiving low grades in their studies and then one of the members of the fraternity will be assigned to see that this man receives some assistance in his study or studies in which he is deficient. Anyone who is having difficulty with a subject may come to any member of Gamma Chi Epsilon and state his troubles and the member will assist him or tell him of some one that will give the needed assistance.

Last year work similar to this was carried out by a senior, appointed by the class, known as a Scholastic Manager, whose duty it was to see that all men who needed assistance in their studies were given help by someone of the so-called "sharks" in those studies.

In the present membership of Gamma Chi Epsilon there are men from every department of the college so that men who desire assistance will be aided by those who have taken the course that is offering the difficulty and by someone that will be a capable instructor.

Freshmen, especially the athletes, who are having difficulty with any subjects are invited to ask any member of the fraternity for assistance. The present active members of Gamma Chi Epsilon are Arthur I. Weinstein, president; Elmer Ashman, Carl Dossin, Harold Steck, Byrd Sandish, George Hildring and Maurice Daly.

DID YOU GET YOUR "CAMPUS"?

There have been several complaints from freshmen who have not been receiving their copy of the "Campus."

If you have no box in the local post office you should make special arrangements with the Circulation Manager to get your copy for it cannot be passed out in the general delivery mail.

SOPHOMORES PROVE SUPERIOR TO FRESHMEN IN HISTORIC ROPE PULL ACROSS SWAN LAKE

UNDERCLASSMEN MAKE WHIRLWIND START BUT ARE SOON LOSING GROUND TO STEADY HEAVES OF SOPHIS

Ideal Weather Conditions Preval as Traditional Contest is Enacted.—The Sophomores and Underclassmen Enjoy Dance in Armory to Celebrate Victory.

Swan Lake became the scene last Monday of an annual historic happening when the traditional rope rush ended with another victory for the sophomores and an ignominious defeat for the frosh. Starting with the blast of the whistle, the Class of '25 commenced to gain, which continued until the final decision. After a five minute pull, A. W. Manchester, acting as judge, announced that the Sophomores were ahead by six feet, and at no time during the contest did it appear dubious as to which class would win.

Swan Lake was too small for the traditional rope rush, so the athletes of the college, although from every department of the college, were enabled to see the frosh. Everyone who desired a chance to help was given an opportunity to do so.

Rival Teams Arrive

Soon after the Freshmen made their appearance, the boat of a drum, and the uncertain notes of a bugle heralded the arrival of the sophs. Oscar de Sopo led the band, following which came the fair members of '25, decked in the class colors of orange and violet and carrying the banners of their class McCarthy, in a startling uniform of blue and red, led the stalwart sophomore team.

PLANS FORMULATED FOR BIG ALUMNI REUNION

FOOTBALL BANQUET TO BE HELD AFTER GAME

Week-end of Rhode Island Football Game will be Busy Time at Storrs. Man Alumni Expected to be Present.

Plans are now well under way for the annual Football Banquet to be held in the College Dining Hall on the evening of the Rhode Island game November 18, at seven o'clock.

The committee in charge of the festivities of the week-end is planning for one of the biggest in front of the college ever held at the college other than at Commencement time. The night before the game there will be a monstrous pep fest in the Armory. Saturday preceding the game there will be a parade with a band or a fire and drum corps and music will be a feature during the game. The climax of the week-end comes in the evening when the football squad, alumni, faculty and students assemble for the Football Banquet. As over one hundred alumni are expected to be on hand for the feast it will be necessary to sell a limited number of tickets to the student body. In all probability the seniors will be given first opportunity to purchase the necessary passboards. Music for the banquets will be furnished by a band or the college orchestra.

The Athletic Association has appointed President Maurice Daly and Harold Bolan as representatives from the association on the committee in charge of the reunion program and plans.

LOCAL WIRELESS STATION GETS BASEBALL GAMES

World's Series Games Followed by Play

During the past week much interest was manifested in the world series baseball games. Every afternoon crowds of faculty students and local residents gathered in front of the Mechanical Engineering Building and listened to the games as announced, play by play, through the "loud speaker" attached to the college wireless receiving set. Every detail of the game was clearly announced and the plays were known with a few seconds after they had happened in New York where the series was played.

The results by innings were scored on a large blackboard located just outside the building.

ORANGE AND BLACK COME FROM BEHIND AND WIN 13-6

Connecticut Men Make Good Start.
Getting Touchdown in First Period
Suffield Scores in Second Period and Again in Last Few Minutes of Play.

Suffield School defeated the Aggie Seconds 13-6 in a preliminary contest to the Mass. Aggie game on Dow Field last Saturday. At the start it looked like a walkaway for Connecticut. Brink kicked off fifty yards, and then caught the Suffield runner from behind, after the former had run through all other Aggie tacklers. Suffield plugged the Blue line twice, but could not gain. Thomson fell on a Suffield fumble, and on the next play Berry took the ball around right end for a touchdown.

The Orange and Black scored its first touchdown in the second period. Again in the last few minutes of play a Suffield back carried one of Perry’s punts over the line, and the point after touchdown was made. Darkness in the last half, rain, and a wet, soggy ball, hampered the play of both teams.

MEGAPHONE

The Aggies worked to perfection in the third quarter and the game seemed to be on ice but the breaks went the other way.

Two touchdowns seem to be the jinx for the varsity only this time they had a hand in the scoring also.

Mass. Aggie had a good cheering section and their yells all ended right. Perhaps the cold affected the Aggie rooters, because several times the cheer leaders got anything but an even break. Also, save for the front row and in a few scattered sections, the stand seemed to be afflicted with a severe attack of throat trouble.

Springfield this Saturday and Trinity next. How about a field day to the capital city and see the team win.

RIVAL AGGIE ELEVENTHS BATTLE ON WET FIELD AND NORTHERNERS EMERGE VICTORS BY A 13 TO 6 SCORE

Connecticut Makes Thirteen First Downs to Massachusetts Four—Nutmegs Show Brilliant Playing in Third Period—Hurley Makes Lone Touchdown Spectacular by Either Team.

Playing fierce, old-fashioned football, the rival “Aggie” elevens of Connecticut and Massachusetts tore at each other for four long quarters on a wet field in the first home game for the Nutmegs eleven last Saturday afternoon. When the final whistle shrilled the old tradition or, jinx, for whatever it is, remained intact, and the Northerners had once again defeated Connecticut on the gridiron, this time by a score of 13 to 6. The game was marked by the absence of much open work or spectacular plays of any kind. Line bucking, varied by forward plays, most of them unsuccessful, constituted the bulk of the attack of both teams.

The game opened with an exchange of punts on which the Bay States gained ten yards. Connecticut blocked the line but could not gain and it was Massachusetts’ ball. A line plunge netted eight yards; another first down followed, and the shadow of the Aggies’ goal where the latter bracketed and held the Amberst men twice. Beal then shot a short pass over the line to Marschall, and the first touchdown dropped quickly, successfully for the extra point.

The game saw the seesaw of the half, both teams relentlessly hitting the line and gaining yards. Beal furnished a momentary thrill when he intercepted a perfect Connecticut pass and was caught after a twenty yard sprint.

Connecticut flashed the most consistent football of the game during the third quarter. Line breaks, one or two short passes, and a fifteen yards punt on Mass. Aggie took the ball to the maroon team’s goal line. Here Cohen threw a short pass to “Moe” Daly behind the goal, who fumbled the wet ball, giving Massachusetts the pigskin on their 20 yard mark. An attempted end run was nailed for a ten yard loss, and Tuney kicked thirty five yards, again giving the Aggies the ball within scoring distance. Once more the big blue team marched down the field to the twenty yard line where McAleese kicked the ball to Hurley behind the goal for Connecticut’s only score. Rodovitch missed an attempted placement kick for the extra point.

Massachusetts scored again in the fourth quarter. Beal’s long pass to Grayson carried the ball to the 9 yard mark, and a line plunge netted three more. Grayson then carried the ball six yards around the left end for a touchdown. In the last few moments of play, with the stands hoarsely demanding a touchdown, Moreland threw several passes in a desperate attempt to score, but after a long pass to M. Eddy, a Massachusetts man intercepted the next, and the battle, as far as Connecticut’s scoring possibilities were concerned, was over.

Connecticut made thirteen first downs to Massachusetts’ four, while the Aggies gained eleven passes, three of which were completed and Mass. Aggie tried five, three proving successful.

SEVERAL CROSS COUNTRY MEETS NOW PENDING

Negotiations for meets with Westfield and Rhoeh Island State are now well under way and if these proposed meets are approved of by the faculty it is probable that we shall display our wares against both institutions in the near future.

In the practices preliminary to the interclass cross country meet, the veteran runners, “Jake” Jacoby, “Happy” Steere, Charles Stocking and “Nev” Buckett have been displaying wonderful form and with these men as a nucleus, Coach Daly is confident that he can turn out a team that will be second to none.

Several other men have shown ability the last month; they are Beardsley, ’23, Woodard, ’25, Humphrey, ’25, and Velhage, ’26, and Ames, ’26.

W. I. "Beano" Graf, ’22, for three years varsity center on the Connecticut football squad, and now doing graduate work at the Springfield Y. M. C. A. College played guard in the game last Saturday between Springfield and Vermont. Springfield won the game by the score of 7 to 0.

"Beano" sustained a sprained ankle in the contest. The extent of the injury is not known. This may prevent him from appearing in the lineup against Connecticut at Springfield next Saturday. Last year “Beano” was named as center on the Connecticut Valley second team.

Changes in Line-up Necessary as Schleicht Withdraws from College

Connecticut will tackle Springfield Saturday afternoon minus the services of "Fat" Schleicht, the big guard who has left college. His place will be taken by "Red" O'Neil, who played in the two games last year. Brink will move up from the right end to the right end.

W. L. Graf, varsity Aggie center for three years, may play at guard for Springfield against his former teammates. A crowd of Connecticut enthusiasts expect to make the trip and back the team.

FROSHER FIRST GUESTS OF
CO-EDS IN HOLCOMB HALL
Class of '26 Display Much Originality in Mode of Dress

Official dress inspection by the sopho-moses was the order of the evening on Friday, October 6, when the co-eds were
"at home" to the freshmen at Holcomb Hall. President "Billie" O'Brien inspected each freshman as he arrived at the door to see that he wore the regulation red tie and parted hair on the side. The co-eds have a marvelous respect for the originality of the '26 infants as expressed by their interpretation of the word tule.
Everything from dress scarfs to shoe strings draped from the necks of the guests.
The affair was held under the direction of the girls' social committee, who acted as hostesses for the evening. There was dancing in the assem-blary room and on the terrace while many played cards. Punch and cake were served during the evening.
An interesting event of the evening was the visit of Coach Daly, presumably to confiscate ice cream where football players were concerned but the sophomores were particularly anxious for the coach to attend the party as an honored guest.
The party officially ended at ten o'clock but owing to unforeseen compliations it was several hours later before some of the guests were able to enjoy a nights sleep.

THE SAFETY VALVE

On this same page of our college paper there is space that is usually utilized under the heading "safety valve." As the name suggests this column is based on the premise of giving vent to excess steam that is often accumulated in student minds. We hear a lot of good ideas expressed about things in general on the Hill and it would do a great benefit to all if some of these ideas could be passed on to the student body. There have been a few contributions to the Safety Valve this week. The following is but one of the suggestions that are sure to be of benefit to all.

WILLIMANTIC PASTOR ADDRESSES STUDENT BODY

Stating that loyalty should be a fundamental virtue in the make-up of every human being, Rev. H. S. McCready of Willimantic outlined his conception of loyalty in a speech entitled "What loyalty means to me." At the President's Hour yesterday morning, Mr. McCready said that there are, according to his idea, three kinds of loyalty. Loyalty, just the same as any other virtue, begins with some mental idea and climbs gradually to greater heights. There is first loyalty to a person. The highest type of this kind of loyalty is probably found in the dogged devotion of animals to men.

The second type is loyalty to a cause, institution or country. Probably the best examples of this kind of loyalty are found in Abraham Lincoln's devotion to his country, or Daniel Webster's well-known love for his alma mater. The third and finest type of loyalty is loyalty to the ideals for which a cause, institution or college stands. Sometimes personal loyalty conflicts with the loyalty to ideals and where such is the case personal loyalty must be sacrificed and the higher type followed.

Today college students are regarded as the knight errants of our present civilization. Life in college means little unless we are able to lose somewhat our personal loyalty and see back of the college life the ideals for which the institution stands and unless we are willing to give everything in ourselves to support and further those ideals.

THE SAFETY VALVE

Dear Editor:

At the game last Saturday, some good cheering was done although most of it came from the further side of the field.

To have freshmen practicing for cheer leaders at a varsity game may be the correct way to train the youngsters, but at any rate they should be instructed as to how and let the Aggie roosters yell at them to lead cheers. This to me seems to be a pretty poor showing of Connecticut spirit.

Another thing nearly as bad and on a par with trivial frivalities practiced by prep and grammar schools was manifested at the game last Saturday by some so-called "loyal rooters" pounding on an old can. If the fellows at a game are too lazy to sit down and yell then they should be escorted off the field.

Dr. Sinnott has mad a wide experience in the botanical line. After receiving his Ph.D. in Harvard, he won a travelling fellowship which took him to Australia and the islands of the East India group. He came to Connecticut seven years ago and has been Professor of Botany and Genetics ever since. During his stay at Connecticut Sinnott has compiled a vast amount of experimental data in botany and genetics and the knowledge he has gained in these experiments will be embodied in the subject matter of his new book.

Dr. Sinnott is a widely quoted authority on genetics and the results of his experiments are very valuable to science. "Who's Who" places Dr. Sinnott as eight among the best geneticists in the country.

Dr. L. C. Dunn will take Dr. Sinnott's class in genetics this semester and Mr. Torrey will take over the work in botany.

BACTERIOLOGY CLUB

The Bacteriology Club has started its work for the year in good style. Lloyd Kenneth and Samuel Cohen have been elected as active members and Theodore Hillson as an associate member of the club.

Requirements for admission to the club are: A grade of 'B' in general bacteriology and the election of an advanced course in the subject, or a grade of 'B' in an advanced course in the subject. Applicants are taken in by the members.

The Club plans to have speakers on scientific subjects at several meetings during the year; these meetings to be open to the public.

The Bac. Club election of officers will be held at the last meeting of the month, October 20.

Members of the Bac. Club will be glad to meet freshmen interested in science, especially bacteriology.

AG. CLUB

The first Ag. Club meeting will be held Thursday evening at 7:30. The Ag. Club fair is a big thing and everyone interested, especially freshmen, should get in the club and push. The club is a little late in starting this year, but once under way will make up for lost time.

OPENING OF EVENING LUNCH COUNTER DELAYED

Portable Tables not Arriving on Time Prevents New Eating Place from Operating for a Few Days.

The evening lunch counter that is to be operated in the College Book Store after seven thirty will be unable to open for a few days owing to the fact that there has been a delay in the arriving of the portable tables. "Connie" Mahoney, manager of the local emporium, states that there will be a competent chef on hand to dispense coffee, sandwiches, home made pastr y and other niceties. The shelves and the coffee tank have already been installed and as soon as the tables arrive the management will be ready for business.

Lunch will be served only after seven-thirty, in order that the new eating place will not conflict with the College Dining Hall. The lunch counter will be in operation during the entire evening or as long as the eats are in demand.

AD CLUB TO SHOW EDUCATIONAL MOVIE

Four reels of educational moving pictures will be shown in Hawley Armory by the Ag. Club at seven-thirty this evening.

Two of the reels of movies will feature "Borden's Milk," one reel will trace the progress of animal hides from "Pelt to Belt," and the third will show some of the steps in the process of manufacturing grape juice.
ADDITIONAL INTEREST MANIFESTED BY STUDENTS IN FINAL WEEK OF "CAMPUS" NAME CONTEST

ALL ENTRIES MUST BE IN BY SATURDAY NIGHT THAT JUDGES MAY PICK WINNER OF FREE SUBSCRIPTION

New Lake Furnishes Most Inspiration to Contestants.—Many Entries for Name of New Road.— Entire College May Compete.

Growing interest is manifested in the contest for suitable names for the new lake and the road south of Whitney Road, which was laid down this past summer, that was inaugurated by the Campus and announced a short time ago. The purpose of the contest is to obtain names for the new and as yet unnamed road and lake that can be inscribed on the college map. In inaugurating the contest the Campus offers opportunity for someone to achieve the honor of originating a name that will be preserved in the history of the college for a part of the campus and in addition to winning a free subscription to the college paper.

The committee of judges have picked the following three names yet received for the new lake and the new road. The contest will close next Saturday night and the winners will be announced next week.

Upperclassmen Celebrate

The sophomores picked up the rope and executed a triumphal snake dance across the campus, stopping in front of Koons Hall. Here President McCarthy led in cheers, and the Alma Mater was sung. After this the rope was brought back to the Armory.

Mr. A. G. Skinner acted as time-keeper and starter; Mr. A. W. Manchester, chief judge; Mr. G. H. Lamson and Mr. Christopher were judges from the north and south banks respectively.

In the evening at eight o'clock, the sophomores held a dance in the Armory, to which all upperclassmen were invited. The college orchestra furnished the music.

1. All persons connected with the college are eligible with the exception of the members of the Campus board.
2. Proposed names with the full signature of the contestant shall be sent to the Campus in care of the Contest Editor, Box 54, or may be left in the Campus office on the top floor of the Main Building.
3. A committee composed of five men, three from the faculty and two from the Campus board shall judge the names which are entered in the contest.
4. Contest will last for three weeks and each week the Campus will print the best three names, as judged by the committee, that are suggested for each of the roads and the lake. At the end of this time the two winners will be chosen from the list of names which has been printed.

NATIVE OF GERMANY ENROLLS IN COLLEGE

WALTER HENCWICZ WILL STUDY AGRICULTURE HERE

Attended German "Gymnasium" and Agricultural College of Berlin before coming to America.—Tells of Effect of World War on College Life.

Connecticut Agricultural College is recently gaining an international reputation. We have had students from the Philippines, from the Isle of Guernsey, from Constantinople, and from other foreign places, but this year is probably the first time that a German has ever attended our institution. Walter Hencwicz, who has recently come to this country to study agriculture at C. A. C., is a native of the town of Schneidemuhl. His birthplace is located in Pommerania, a district of Prussia.

German Education System

The German system of education by which Hencwicz has been trained, is much different from our own. At the age of six he entered the grammar school, where he remained for three years. After this he became a student in a high school, or "gymnasium," from which he graduated in March, 1921, after nine years of study. The curriculum of the gymnasium requires nine years of Latin, six of Greek, three of French and three of English, and after commencement the student is eligible for entrance into any college or university in Germany.

The years which Hencwicz spent at the gymnasium were eventful ones, for during that time the World War was in progress. All able-bodied young men in Germany are required to take a certain amount of army training, and for several years the military unit at the gymnasium was liable to call at any time to fight against the German Bolsheviks. At this time, the Bolsheviks were rather numerous, and were waging a sort of guerilla warfare within the country. When news of pillaging or massacre came from anywhere in the surrounding vicinity, the signal was given, and all the students put on their distinguishing arm bands, and were hurried off in their civilian clothes to the scene of disturbance. Here they fought the bands with means of rifles and light fire apparatuses.

The Agricultural College

After graduation from the gymnasium, Hencwicz entered the Agricultural College of Berlin, an institution of about four thousand students. This university is situated next to the former Kaiser's palace on Unter den Linden Strasse. The system followed here is much different from that in American universities. There are no dormitories, each student living in a private home or boarding place. The method of instruction also differs radically from that to which we are accustomed. Classes are held from eight in the morning to eight at night but there is no outside work to be done. Courses consist of a series of lectures with no quizzes or exams whatever, until at the end of two years when a final examination is given on this chart.

One comparatively insignificant feature, which however some of our American schools might do well to copy, is a large schedule card on which are printed all the courses which the college offers. By consulting this, one can tell at a glance whether two courses he wishes to study will conflict in any given year. Moreover the name of the professor, the place in which the course is given, the semester, and the time of day are included on this chart.

Fraternals

While at the university, Hencwicz was taken into the Normannia, a national club corresponding to one of our fraternities. After a freshman is pledged to a club, he is put through a course in fencing, and then the club sends his name and that of its other pledges to another friendly club. This second organization sends an equal number of its men, and the two groups are matched up in pairs for duels. Formerly the men were given sabres, but owing to too many fatalities, foils are now used. The duellists are equipped with glasses to protect the eyes from injury, their left arms are bound behind the back, and their right arms are lightly gauzetealed. The candidate must stand his ground, and put up a good fight. He must neither flinch nor loss his temper though he lose an ear or worse. If a candidate fails in his first initiation, he is suspended from the club for two weeks, and is then given another chance. This time, however, he is not allowed to injure his opponent, and he himself must fight until he falls.

Effect of World War

After Germany entered the war, her food supply gradually diminished, and the people were the last forced to exist on starvation rations. Women and children were given the best of what food was procurable and the men were forced to live on one or two meals a day. Henewicz himself had eaten no meat for six years when he came to this country. His diet had consisted largely of black bread, which had to be cut in small pieces and dried in the sun before it could be eaten. This was supplemented by fruits and vegetables in the summer and potatoes and beets in the winter. This diet produced such a condition that it was some time before he could assimilate the ordinary American food. As an example of the physical condition of the average German after the war, Henewicz says that at home he excelled the majority of his college mates in athletics, whereas in this country, he is scarcely able to compete. His strength is increasing considerably, however, and he is now in training for the cross country, a four and a half mile course, which he would have been unable to run when he first came to America.
E. B. FITTS RESIGNS AS SPECIALIST AT OREGON

Former Graduate of C. A. C. to Take up Dairy Work at Penn. State—Receives Much Praise for Work Done in Oregon.

"After nine years of service as Dairy Extension Specialist at Oregon Agricultural College—years which have been marked by remarkable advance of the dairy industry in this state—E. B. Fitts has resigned, effective October 1, to take charge of dairy extension work at Pennsylvania State College where he will head an extension staff of six specialists, most of his work being in the office. Friends of "Dad" Fitts, as he is affectionately known among extension service workers in Oregon, regret to see him leave the state, but rejoice at his promotion to a field boasting one million dairy cows rather than two hundred thousand, as in this state." The above is an extract from an article appearing in the "Oregon Farmer" for September 28 about E. B. Fitts, who graduated from Connecticut in the class of 1885, and was for a time employed as assistant professor of Dairying at this college. Mr. Fitts has been with the Oregon extension service since October 1, 1913, and has helped dairying in Oregon to stride rapidly forward in feeding, breeding for higher production, herd management and association and official testing. E. B. Fitts is brother of Professor Fitts, Dean of the Department of Mechanical Engineering of this institution.

Henewicz has seen the war from the German side; he has lost father and a brother in the conflict; he has seen his mother and younger brother suffer from lack of food; and he says, "You fellows here in America and especially American colleges don't appreciate what opportunities and good fortune you are enjoying." As a proof of his feeling towards America, Henewicz is planning to have his mother and brother come over here to live at the earliest possible opportunity.

NUTMEG WILL REMAIN A JUNIOR PUBLICATION

Sophs and Frosh to Try for Positions on Board

By a vote of the Junior Class it has been decided that the Nutmeg shall remain a Junior publication this year. The Publications Committee had previously recommended that the Nutmeg feature the Seniors, as this is the tradition in many other colleges, but owing to the complications occurred in so doing it was thought best to postpone this action until some less pressing time.

A meeting of the Nutmeg Board is to be held in Hort 13 at one o'clock Saturday, and all candidates in the Freshman or Sophomore classes who wish to try out are invited to be present. Tryouts for the position of art editor have opened with a free-for-all contest, which closes Saturday, October 28. The design to be handed in at that time consists of a one color (black) top border for the pages of the year book. For information or suggestions ask any of the editors.

"WHITNEY ROAD" CORRECT NAME OF CAMPUS ROAD

Many and varied are the nick names that have been attached to the road south of Hawley Armory leading from Faculty Row. However, the correct and official name is "Whitney Road," as was pointed out at the time the property was deeded to the college with the understanding that this should be the name of the road and it is inscribed on the college campus maps.

SOPHOMORES CELEBRATE ROPE PULL VICTORY

The annual Sophomore Informal to celebrate the rope pull victory was held in Hawley Armory on Monday night, the College Orchesta of five pieces furnishing the music. All upperclass students were invited as guests of the class. During the intermission refreshments were served. About one hundred and fifty persons enjoyed the affair, which was arranged by a committee of sophomores consisting of W. A. Makofski, E. I. Collins and D. E. Noble.

The patrons and patronesses for the dance were Professor and Mrs. H. H. Lambson, Professor and Mrs. H. A. Seckerson and Coach and Mrs. J. W. Tasker.

LADIES CIRCLE WILL GIVE "OLD PEABODY PEW"

A committee of the Ladies Circle of Storrs is working on the "Old Peabody Pew," a quaint old play of our grandparents' day, written by Kate Douglas Wiggin. As the stage setting is the interior of an old church, the play will be given in the local church. The date set for the play is October 27 at 8 p.m.

WITH THE COLLEGE STOCK

At considerable trouble, the Farm Department has secured two collie pups from Henry Dorrance of Plainfield, president of the Connecticut State Sheep Breeders Association. The pups are still too young for work with the sheep, but give promise of developing into valuable dogs for sheep work. These will take the place of Gyp and Nell, the two sheep dogs formerly owned by the college, whose ability for caring for sheep had been demonstrated at numerous Farmers’ Week gatherings. The dogs will be trained by “Joe” Fritchard, the college sheepherd.

Sapphire, the stud colt raised by the college, and which stood second in his class at Springfield, has been sold to J. Watson Webb, owner of Shelburne Farms, Shelburne, Vt. The colt was out of Carnette by Dragon Jr., both animals owned by the college.

Last summer the Animal Hashandy Department added a pair of Clydesdale geldings to the farm stock at C. A. C. The horses are three-year-olds and show indications of developing into fine draft animals. They are well matched for trucking and for use in classwork. The team was purchased from Belair Farms, Collington, Maryland.
