Few people realize that the Connecticut-Rhode Island football series has been running with occasional lapses for 26 years and that Saturday's game will be the sixteenth between the two colleges. It is for this reason that a win over Rhody means so much to every man or woman who ever went to college at Connecticut. It is now four years since Connecticut last tasted the sweets of victory in the annual classic with her greatest rival. Three strong teams have opposed the Kingston eleven since 1919; teams that on paper and by all the laws of the 'dope' should have won each of the games; but always the fighting eleven from Kingston has pulled the unexpected by once tying and twice beating (Cont. on page 5 col. 4)

STUDENTS, ALUMNI AND FACULTY GOING

"AGGIE SPECIAL" LEAVES EAGLEVILLE 8:30 SATURDAY

Students, Faculty, and Alumni Will March from Dining Hall at Seven-thirty for Eagleville.—Mass Meetings on Wednesday and Friday Nights to Arouse Aggie Spirit to Fever Pitch.

Primed with the success of a hard season, and determined to put an end to the jinx that has "queered" the last three Rhode Island games, the Blue and White team with the backing of students, faculty, and alumni will invade Kingston on Saturday for the one big game of the Connecticut football season. One tie and two defeats is the score to be evened on Rhode Island's field this week-end. The faculty decision to excuse classes on Saturday removes the final excuse for anyone failing to board the "Aggie Special" in Eagleville on Saturday next.

Seniors and juniors remember the Rhode Island trip two years ago, and sophomores remember the game on Gardner Dow field last fall, but the freshmen who are to experience their first Connecticut-Rhode Island encounter will also receive their first dose of an aroused Aggie spirit. With one of the hardest schedules in C. A. C. history successfully completed, a win from Rhode Island is all that is needed to make this a banner year in Blue and White football annals. Two years ago when the annual Aggie-Rhode Island encounter was staged at Kingston, practically everyone in college made the trip, and it is expected this year's trip will even better the one of two years ago. About thirty members of the squad with the coach, manager and trainer will make the trip on the "Aggie Special" with the rest of the student body. All indications point to an invasion of the enemy territory next Saturday that will furnish the native Kingstonians with a topic of conversation for the next year.

On Wednesday evening and again on Friday evening, the night before the big game, there will be mass meetings in Hawley Armory to get the songs and cheers learned thoroughly. The mass meeting Friday night will be the biggest one this year. Coach Dole, Captain O'Neill, seniors on the team, and alumni are on the list of speakers for that evening. On that night everyone will hear from the alumni stories of Rhode Island encounters of past years, of how the Blue and White triumphed or lost, as the case may be, over her ancient rival. If anyone leaves the Armory on Friday evening without his Aggie spirit developed to fever pitch, he will be a fit subject for investigation and research.

ORANGE FLAME HOPES TO BURN RHODE ISLAND

TEAM IN GOOD CONDITION

Swum Counted on to Furnish Thrills.—Captain O'Neill Ready to Play The Greatest Game of Career.—Rhody Working Hard.

Swinging into the last lap with every man in good condition, the Connecticut football team is going thru hard workouts daily on Gardner Dow field in preparation for the big game with Rhode Island at Kingston, Saturday, November 17.

Rhode Island has been having difficulty in the punt department this year, and Moreland's twisting punts are expected to give the Aggies an edge in the kicking line.

O'Neill Stands Out

Captain "Red" O'Neill of Connecticut, who has only one more year to play before he runs off Gardner Dow field forever, has been playing brilliantly in the line all fall, and is counted on to knife through Rhody's forwards with the offensive and to use his deadly tackling skill when the engineers have the pigskin.

Swum and Baylock are expected to start at halfbacks. Both are small and light but are hard players, who can run with the ball. "Petey" Baylock may not play the whole game as he needs to be saved for basketball and "Tommy" Donahue is a capable understudy. Swum is counted on to cut loose and his great broken-field running may materially alter the score.

"Chippy" Purple, who has been playing a good game at full-back since he got his chance at midseason, will probably start in that position, with Filler in reserve.

Ends Strong

Four veterans are ready to start, with Brink and Dunn having the first chance. Both these men are sure tacklers, accurate handlers of a pass, and fast at getting down the field. Dunn in particular is under every play, and usually one or the other nails the receiver before he can move.

Can Connecticut erase the sting of three lean years, and hurl back her ancient foe at Kingston Saturday? That is what every Aggie, past, present, or to be, is thinking as the day for the annual gridiron tussle with Rhode Island draws near. Interest on the campus is at the highest pitch, and the talk is turning entirely to football. Connecticut rooters are praying for a good day and a dry field when the throng of northerners descend to the plains of Kingston, Saturday; given these external aids they leave the rest to the team.

Sidelines

If ever an Aggie team had the chance to beat Rhode Island, they have it this year.

Rhody has not scored a point this season, and perhaps this will be the first year since 1919 that the orange flame has ended the season.

However, Rhode Island, as always, will battle to the limit with a united student body back of the team, and no one can predict what the outcome will be until the game is over.

What we can do is to go to Kingston and give the team everything we have.

The Pond, which has been undisturbed for several years, is waiting for men who have not enough college spirit to go to the game.

We would advise the New London police force to have the score wired to them, and in case the Aggies win, to call out the riot squad. Because there will be no holding the boys if the old special steps in New London after an Aggie victory.

A man from Harvard who watched the magnificent playing of Captain "Red" O'Neill in the St. Stephen's game said, "There's not a college in New England but would like to have that man in the line."

The Fighting Saints did it!

In the fourth year of Conn.-St. Stephen's games they succeeded in snaring a victory.

And all credit is due them. No cleaner or faster team appears on the Aggie schedule.

Dorlis is about as fine a forward passer as we have seen in many a day.

But the best part of the game was the way the orange flame came back.

Complete Five Passes

Reeves Makes Three Touchdowns.—Alexander's Eleven Goes Through Season Undefeated.

The freshman team last Saturday completed a perfect season by defeating the Two-Year men from Mass. Aggie with a 27 to 0 score. Out of ten forward passes attempted, the Freshmen completed five.

Andrew started the game with a wonderful run, taking the ball from the eighty yard line for a touchdown on the kick-off, but missed the kick.

Connecticut line plunged for a sure gain every time, and did not take the defensive once during the first quarter. Chapman made several runs of twenty-five yards while Reeves planted the ball behind the Massachusetts goal line three times.

In the second half, the whole second team went in, and while it did not score, it outplayed Massachusetts.

The fudge made nineteen first downs to Mass. Aggies one.

St. Stephen's Eleven Noses Out Aggies 12-6

Passing Attack Features

The Aggie pigskin tossers ran below par last Saturday and went down to defeat before the foot St. Stephen's out, 12 to 6. From the kick-off to the final whistle, the Saints gave the Nutmeggers a hard, fast game. Several times during the game, Captain O'Neill's outfit showed the old fight and pep, but were unable to break up the winning streak of the visitors.

Dope Favors Aggies

On the strength of their respective records so far, Captain "Red" O'Neill should have the pigskin in his clutches when he boards the "Aggie Special" after the game next Saturday night. Connecticut has played seven games; of which two have resulted in victories, one is a tie, and four in defeats. Rhode Island's record is not nearly so impressive, the engineers having played five games, tied one, and lost four, without having scored a point during the season.

Again, in comparative scores Connecticut has a decided advantage. St. Stephen's beat Worcester Tech 32-0; Connecticut lost to St. Stephen's 12-6; while Rhode Island and Worcester Tech played to a scoreless tie. New Hampshire trimmed Rhode Island 12-0 while Connecticut and New Hamp.

shire fought through four quarters together without scoring. Maine beat Rhode Island 14–0, while Connecticut held the Pine Tree eleven to a 7–0 score.

Rhode Island Strong
However, Rhode has a disagreeable habit of upsetting the dope, and sending a team against Connecticut that has forgotten such a thing as comparative scores or previous results existed. The blue and white is in for a hard battle Saturday, and the players are not understanding their Kingston foe.

Defeat Trinity
Connecticut opened the season against Trinity at Hartford on September 29. Next to the Rhode Island classic, this contest is the one Aggie supporters want most to win. For the second successive time the fast blue and white eleven defeated Trinity in Hartford, this time by a score of 15–0. However, the team did not show the smoothness in this game that it did in later contests.

Tufts Wins 14–9
The annual clash with Eddie Casey's Tufts eleven at Medford came on October 6. Nervousness at the start gave the Jumbos their first touchdown, after which the Aggies settled down to business and kept the ball in Tufts' territory most of the time. In the last quarter Moreland opened a forward passing attack in a last-minute bid for a score, and a pass too close to the Connecticut goal was intercepted by a Tufts back, who raced across the line for the second score, making the total 14–0.

Aggies Show Power
Although defeated, Connecticut played her best game of the season before a large crowd at Storrs, October 13. Maine's steam-roller struck a snag, and it was only after the hardest kind of battling that the powerful Pine Tree machine was able to score a touchdown, with the attendant point. Swear gave the first indications of his ability at advancing a ball thru a broken field during this game. The midget halfback cut loose several times for long runs.

Tie New Hampshire
On October 20 the Aggies journeyed to New Hampshire, where they held the University to a scoreless tie. (Cont. on page 6 col. 4)

BEAT RHODE ISLAND!

Since the advent of the class of 1924 on the Hill, Connecticut has been unable to secure a victory over its ancient and honored rival, Rhode Island. Three times the laurels seemed to be in the hands of the Aggies but each time victory was taken from our grasp and two defeats and one tie have gone down on the records for the past three years.

This year again, past records seem to augur favorably for a Connecticut triumph. Certainly we have a team which is out to do its best for old Connecticut and will fight to the very end. But the Rhode Islanders have a way of fighting in the Connecticut games and the contest promises to be one of the most hard fought in years.

Dearer to the heart of a Connecticut man than everything else is a win over "Rhody" on the gridiron. Thus far no student now at college has tasted the sweets of such a victory. The present seniors have this one opportunity left. They have all the accumulated pep of four seasons to expend. If fortune smiles, they're going to let it go.

The game is the game of the year. It means much to every Connecticut man. The Aggies have got to win—or no other conception can be possible. With this idea—let's go to Kingston and help that team BEAT RHODE ISLAND for the first time in four years and then LET'S CELEBRATE!

CAMPUS PHILOSOPHER

A page from the Philosopher's Diary
Friday, November 9

This day is sad, like everything else; a snow has snowed, which caused me to reflect on the current extortions for arties, though I am advised by a brother who follows the styles that low shoes alone will be the vogue this blighting winter. The day being unrelieved by any prospects of aocking party, did settle into the harness, albeit methought it galled a bit. In the A.M. to a class or two and also to the Sanctorum, where I succeeded in grinding out next week's "Campus" assignments. After dinner, (obtained surreptitiously), to a class and was startled to find a quiz in progress. Well, his exceeding dull for a prof unless he has an exam to correct once in a while. After flunking the quiz, again to the Sanctorum, where did labor all afternoon preparing copy for this issue of the sheet. In the evening, not being owner of four bits, and knowing of no successor in sight, idled ashore at the play.

The Eddy brothers, "Big and Little Cheese," men of long experience in Aggie football will hold down the tackle positions. "Little Cheese" is a performer of no mean ability and throws all the transcendent passes.

Big Center Trio

Nanfeldt and McAllister, both big men than anything else is a win to trot on to the field as guards. Each of these men has been playing a hard game all fall, and with Captain "Red" O'Neill between them at center, the middle of the line should give no cause for concern.

"Wally" Moreland, who has been playing quarterback all season, will call signals Saturday. "Wally" is a cool field-general, a good drop-kicker, accurate passer, strong punter and has shown ability in running with the ball, though he seldom carries the pigskin.

Three varsity men are playing their last games for Connecticut Saturday. They are E. M. Eddy, right tackle, Thomas Donahue, halfback and M. N. Purplo, fullback. Other Seniors on the squad are: N. F. Emigh, end, and W. W. White, fullback.

Twenty-seven men, exclusive of the coaches, trainers, manager and so on, will make the trip to Kingston on the special train which the student body has chartered.

New Hampshire Hitting Connecticut's Line.—Game Played October 20, and Resulted in a Scoreless Tie.—New Hampshire Beat Rhode Island 13-0.
RHODY'S CAPTAIN
IS STAR ATHLETE
PLAYS RIGHT HALFBACK
Is Baseball, Basketball, and Track
Man Also.—Prominent at Rhode Island.

One of the best sportmen and athletes at Rhode Island is Thomas Kirby '24, captain of the football team which meets Connecticut at Kingston Saturday.

All-Around Athlete
From the time he entered college as a freshman Kirby has been almost constantly engaged in athletics in one form or another. He is a star on the football team, and he plays either second base or shortstop on the varsity baseball team. Kirby has been prominent on the basketball floor and to a certain extent on the track.

Kirby graduates from Rhode Island this year, and his departure will take away one of the best athletes and most popular men the college has known in a long time.

Fourth Year on Varsity
"Tom" is not playing against Connecticut for the first time. In the 1921 game he put up a great fight at left end and last year he again played end against the Aggies. Kirby has been switched to right halfback this year where he is playing well.

The Rho Iota Kappa fraternity numbers Kirby among its members. He is in the agricultural division and was a member of the fruit judging team which recently competed against Connecticut's team at New York. He is a member of the Polygon, the interfraternity council of the college.

How can one be philosophical when the Rhode Island game is only a few days off?

Besides the C. P. is head over heels in copy he is preparing for this, the Rhode Island issue.

However, he wishes to suggest that your friends in high school, your girl, your parents, and others, will be interested in this issue. Also, it is good publicity for the college. Let your friends know that although Yale and Princeton may be in the limelight next Saturday afternoon, another notch in a small college series of 10 years standing will be cut when the last whistle blows over the mud-flats of Kingston next Saturday. Extra copies of the issue may be obtained from E. W. Nelson, circulation manager of the "Campus," at the really nominal sum of 5¢ each.—Adv.

A freshman's equipment when he arrives on the Hill:
1 hat—usually green felt.
Collarless collars and some nobby striped shirts.
Suit—best thing about it is that it is usually pressed. Trousers failing to connect with shoe-tops; coat having sharp notched lapels; latest style in Bingville, Conn. Shoes—high, bulldog toe; yellow or a nondescript tan, predominating color.

Black raincoat, red ties, and other accessories.

The same freshman returning as a sophomore:
Worldly air; lordly mien; college written all over him.
Sack suit; three buttons, correctly spaced; easy hang.
Neckties and shirts O. K.
Trousers wide and of sufficient length.
Socks draped over shoes, which are low, and probably constructed of Norwegian grain.
Topcoat and overcoat; loose, box style.
Hat; easily crushed; one side of brim down.

But the one really crowning virtue of a college youth of one year's standing as compared to a fresh fresh from the tall grass is that the former has good taste—he is able to appreciate the co-eds, while a freshman thinks they are nothing minus.

Wanted: a humorist to write for the Philosopher's column.

CAPTAIN M. L. O'NEIL
OUTSTANDING LINEMAN
MAINSTAY OF AGGIE LINE
Third Year on Varsity Squad.—Has One More Year to Play for Connecticut.

Martin L. O'Neill of New Britain, captain of the football team this fall, is one of the best linemen in the smaller New England colleges. He has played brilliantly in every game this year, starting against Trinity, where he picked up a fumble and made one of the two touchdowns.

Backs Up Line
Until this year, "Red" was always a tackle, but when a shortage developed in the ranks of center candidates, "Red" stepped into the breach, and is proving to be as great at that position as he was at tackle. On the defensive he backs up the entire line, and is the biggest reason why opposing backs have usually found the Aggie line a solid stone wall.

Starred Against "Saints"
Against St. Stephen's last Saturday, "Red" played his best game of the year. He was in on nearly every play and broke up several forward passes.

Captain O'Neill is 24 years old, weighs 160 pounds, is 5 ft. 10 in. tall, and is playing his third year on the varsity squad. He made his letter for the first time last fall. "Red" is a one-sport man, but he gives his best to that sport. His home is in New Britain, Conn.
November 3 they had a chance to see the team's offensive ability demonstrated on Gardner Dow Field. The Aggies crushed the City College of New York eleven 19-0, one or two bad breaks, and constant penalties holding the score as low as it was. Two of the touchdowns were scored as the result of successful forward passes, one of which was a 30 yard pass, on which Swemoore 50 additional yards for the touchdown in the last moments of play. The third touchdown came as the result of excellent line-backs and off-tackle slashes. Connecticut flashed a varied offensive and Swen kept the large crowd on edge with his spectacular runs.

St. Stephen's Wins

Connecticut played her annual contest with the fast St. Stephen's eleven on Gardner Dow field last Saturday, and was defeated by a better team 12-6. St. Stephen's accurate passing attack, coupled with her fast and tricky running plays, had the Aggies dazed during the second quarter, when the "Saints" scored both of their touchdowns. In the third quarter Connecticut retaliated with a touchdown, which was also scored by means of an overhead attack.

Rhody Hasn't Scored

University of Maine beat Rhode Island 14-0, Harvard handed her a 35-0 setback, New Hampshire won 15-0, New York University trimmed the Engineers by a 21-0 count, and in her last game, played Nov. 5, the Kingston team held Worcester Tech to a scoreless tie. Rhode Island did not play last Saturday, as the team always rests before the big game with the Aggies.

Engineers Confident

In regard to the season, the managing editor of the "Beacon" writes as follows:

pass from Deloria to White, who gathered it in and ran 30 yards for the second and last touchdown for the visitors.

Aggies Back Strong

Beginning with the second half the Blue and White seemed to have hit their former stride, and the Saints had to kick a number of times to ensure their own safety. In the fourth quarter a long pass from M. A. Eddy to Brink brought the Aggies to St. Stephen's 15 yard line. End runs and plunges carried them to the 10 yard line and then a pass from Moreland to M. A. Eddy netted the Blue and White their only touchdown.

Deloria starred for the St. Stephen's eleven, breaking through the Aggie line for long gains. The sturdy Indian was responsible for all the forward passes made by the visiting outfit. O'Neill was the outstanding player for the home team. Time after time the New Britain lad broke up St. Stephen's hopes by smearing their plays before they materialized.

“Although the team has met with little success this season, Rhode Island is by no means pessimistic or doubtful about the future. Every game played so far has been clean and fast, and the opponents can in no case say that the victory was easily won. Rhody has fought determinedly and persistently, and everyone is now confident that the Aggies will have to step on it in order to keep up with the boys on Kingston Hill. As the big day draws near, spirit runs high and the atmosphere is charged with pent-up emotion. The Rhode Island students, in eager anticipation, are singing their new football song, ‘We’re Ready; Let’s Go!’”

Undefeated freshman team, and only scored on once—great stuff! Some wonderful material for next year's varisty will trot on to the field again next fall. And especially since the varisty is a green team and only two or three men will be lost by graduation, the Aggies should have the best team ever next year.
