REV. MARSHALL DAWSON RESIGNS AS PASTOR
FUTURE PLANS UNSETTLED

Pastor of "Church on the Hill" Completes Eight Years of Service at Storrs on March First.

Reverend Marshall Dawson, pastor of the Storrs Church, has handed his resignation to the Board of Trustees of the Church to take effect August 31, 1924.

Rev. Dawson came to Storrs on March 1, 1916, from the Yale School of Religion where he had been doing graduate work during the interim between a pastorate on the Pacific Coast and his coming to Storrs. His plans for the future are not definitely settled although there are two possible plans that he is considering.

In a letter to the Campus, Rev. Dawson makes the following statement:

"The news that I have resigned my work at Storrs, and that this will be my last term here, might as well be made public, now, through the Campus.

It is my opinion that a new type of man should have a try at the work, here; and I am hoping that the right one can be found for a new start next fall.

There are perhaps a baker's dozen of students on the Hill who are more or less mildly interested in the ideas I have been developing; and these may profit by the information that local opportunity for contacting the ideas that have proved interesting to (Cont. on page 8 col. 1)

AGGIE GRADS WILL LEAVE FOR JAPAN

Theodore Gardner, '22, and Harold Jaynes, '22, will leave for California February 20 in preparation for their three years' sojourn in Japan and surrounding countries, where they will be doing research work on the Japanese beetle and other parasites for the Federal Bureau of Entomology. After staying a few days in Berkeley, California, where they will visit government entomological laboratories they expect to sail from Los Angeles, March 4, on the ship "President Lincoln." They will arrive at Kobi, Japan, which will be their headquarters, fourteen days later. They will work in Japan and China the following summer, spending the fall and winter in studying the biology and the life histories of the parasites. The rest of the time they will spend in the interior of China, Manchuria and India.

THREE ACT FARE FOR MID-YEAR VISITORS

DANCING MAY FOLLOW

Veteran Cast Will Present "A Full House."—Doors Will Close Promptly at 8:15.

The mid-year play to be presented by the Dramatic Club Saturday evening, will be played by a veteran cast, most of them having appeared before in college dramatics.

"A Full House" is a clever three act farce by Fred Jackson, the well-known short story writer. The theme moves swiftly and action begins with the raising of the first curtain.

Francis O'Connor, '27, in the role of Irish inamorata, will provide the big laugh, assisted by Miss Irene Ellis, '26, as the "dumb" maid. Miss Phyllis Smith, '25, will play the female lead in the young bride of "George Howell" played by Lawrence Parker, '23.

The curtain will rise at 8:15. It is possible that there will be dancing afterwards but due to complications in getting music, this part has not yet settled. Doors will be closed promptly at 8:15. The admission is seventy-five cents and one hundred and seventy-five dollars are guaranteed.

The cast in the order of appearance follows:

Parks Roland T. Weheger Susie Irene Ellis Misses Howell Edward D. Smith Mrs. Winneke Pauline M. Girard Daphne Charters, Rosemary Broughel Nicholas King Martin O'Neill King Milton Moore George Howell Lawrence Parker Doughtery George Wells Jim Mooney Francis O'Connor Mrs. Fleming Hazel Pierpon Vera Vernon Mrs. Pembroke Margaret Hutton Florence Tenney

TRINITY DEBATE ON 18TH AMENDMENT CANCELLED

Scholastic Difficulties Force Hartford Opponents to Give Up Plans for Forensic Battle.

Scholastic difficulties on the part of members of the Trinity debating team make it necessary to cancel the debate scheduled with Trinity for February 25, at Hartford, according to a letter received by Manager Lawrence Loeb of the C. A. T. Team.

The subject for debate was "Resolved—That the 18th Amendment is to the best interests of the United States." This team expects to carry on the work it has started on the subject that the material may be used for possible future debates on the same question.
MASS AGGIE TRIUMPHS OVER BLUE AND WHITE
TWO LONG BASKETS SPELL DEFEAT

Strong Comeback Staged by Connecticut in Second Half.—Mass. Aggie Leads by Single Point with Three Minutes to Play.—Final Score 23-18

Mass. Aggie came here with a reputation of having defeated Harvard, and Connecticut went into the game seemingly with just the hope of holding down the score. With poor shooting and worse passing the first half ended 13—5 with Mass. Aggie 8 points in the lead.

The second half was a different story; the boys came out in a fighting mood. Brilliant work on the part of Captain Baylock and O'Brien, plus the accurate shooting of Eddy and Greer brought Connecticut to within one point of Mass. Aggie's score, 18—19. Two long and miraculous baskets by Jones of Mass. Aggie clinched the game for them. Bitgood's defensive work was of the highest order. The final score was 23—18.

SOPHOMORES EASILY DOWN TWO YEAR FIVE

Ag Men Unable to Penetrate Five Man Defense.—Score at Final Whistle 11—5.

The sophomores showed that they were still strong contenders for the interclass basketball championship when they defeated the Two Year team in a fast game Monday night at Hawley Armony. The '26 five took the lead when Donovan caged a pretty field goal. Holding the game, the two-year team had one point to show for their efforts when the game was halted.

The summary:

CO-EDS ADD ANOTHER WIN TO NO-DEFEAT SLATE

Capturing a safe lead in the first five minutes of play, the co-ed hoopers easily held the Hartford Y. W. C. A. to the short end of a 35—24 score on February 2. The absence of the varsity center, "Peg" Hall and the varsity guard, "Izzy" Moddell, necessitated a substitution in those positions. By giving this game the co-eds maintained their record of no defeats so far this season.

SENIORS TAKE '25 QUINTET INTO CAMP

Easily Outclass Juniors in First Period and Hold Lead During Last Half.

The seniors continued their winning streak by defeating the junior five in Hawley Armony Monday night after one of the most interesting interclass games of the season. The first half was a falk away for the seniors and at the end of the first period the count was 3 to 1. The second half was a much different game. The juniors found themselves and by speedy passing and good shooting they were soon one point. The seniors stopped this rally by calling time out. When the game was continued the juniors seemed unable to get going, the game was then scored with the seniors leading (Cont. from page 6 col. 3).

Speers played a very safe game from the start and was never in danger of being defeated by his opponent. The elimination matches are to be finished by the end of next week and the final match for the interfraternity cup will be played on February 28. The schedule is as follows:

February 11—
Alpha Phi
Eta Lambda Sigma

February 14—
Phi Mu Delta
Alpha Gamma Rho

February 18—
College Shakespearean Club
Sigma Phi Gamma

February 21—
Phi Epsilon Pi

Winners play winners on February 21, February 24, and February 28.

The Mediator has not yet set a schedule for the inter-fraternity bowling tournament, but it is expected that the schedule will be issued in the next few days.

The Junior-Sophomore co-ed basketball game which was scheduled for February 4 has been forfeited to the Juniors.

was easily the lankiest center seen in action in Storrs for a long time, and probably the best natured as well. Although knocked to the floor time after time by the frantic efforts of Bitgood or Eddy to prevent him shooting, Kaligarvy always struggled to his feet with a broad, good-natured grin spread over his face, a thing that drew rounds of applause from the stands.

OUR COLLEGE
Criticism, if just and open, is a very good thing and pertains to institutions as well as to individuals. On the other hand, covert and malicious "crabbing" is as bad as its opposite is advantageous and should be stamped out at any cost. This last named afflication is present almost everywhere and, at present time, Connecticut is not the exception.

All too frequent are the complaints concerning the college—made not openly as with a view to remedy the cause—but done in quiet where they can cause only discontent, and at the best, but aggravate the situation. If things go wrong on the Hill there is no particular blame on the College. Connecticut is no worse than the majority of institutions and considerably better than many. Our college takes its place with the leaders of kindred institutions. It will not be found wanting. Furthermore, it is our college while we are here and the least we owe her is loyalty. A man or woman who is not loyal to his or her college matters how long the period of remaining here is, lacks one of the fundamentals of American manhood or womanhood.

Along the lines of college, there are many students here who remain for only a year, taking only the subjects which will enable them to enter some other college. This is all very well, but why belittle the institution which is enabling them to go elsewhere? By so doing they are injuring the hand that aided them and doing the college a great wrong. If the harm is occasioned by thoughtlessness on the part of the individual he should be taught to think with greater care and continued offenses should meet with sterner measures.

It has been said that one gets return from an undertaking in measure as to what he puts into it. That principle should have some bearing in the case. Indifferent students have no interest in their studies and, being too cowardly to blame themselves, lay the blame on the institution. This is a feeling which has taken root on the Hill and no means should be spared to remove it.

Dancing is our college while we are here and if anyone can not boost it, our place is elsewhere. Our Alma Mater expresses the true sentiments of every true Connecticut man or woman:

"We will honor her while living
Help to make her great
Sing her praises to the people
Of the Nutmeg State."

PALAIS-ROYAL HOUNDS
PLAY AT MIDYEAR DANCE
John Cavallaro and his “Palais-Royal Hounds” are scheduled to appear at the Mid-Year Fright in a night in Hawley Armory. There can be no doubt as to the quality of the music for the occasion, for the reputation of the musical organization has traveled far and wide. The grand march at eight-thirty, headed by T. J. Kennedy, champion of the committee for the dance, will be preceded by a concert from eight until the grand march. Dancing will continue until two in the morning.

COACH F. W. SWEET MAKES FIRST CUT IN GLEE CLUB
Twenty Men Left on List.—Final Cut Comes Soon.—Return of Laubscher ‘24 Strengthens Tenor Section.

The first cut in Glee Club membership was made by Coach F. W. Sweet last week with the result that twenty men constitute the personnel of the Club at the present time. Another cut will be made in about one week, at which time the final membership of the Club will be determined.

Work is progressing on a program consisting of classical numbers, lighter songs, negro selections and humorous numbers. The Fred Sweet gang had three rehearsals a week with the intention of shaping a program for trips after the Easter vacation. The strength of the Club has been materially increased by the return of Robert Laubscher, ‘24, who for the last three years has sung second tenor in the Club and was a member of last year’s quartette.

STATE COLLEGE TROUPE
PLAY IN WILLIMANTIC
Three Plays Given for Members of the D. A. R.—Same Program for Community House, Danielson, on February 14.

Members of the Little Theatre have been busy rehearsing for plays this past week. Two new plays have just been learned. They are called “Suppressed Desires” and “Fancy Free”. These two plays, together with the “Finger of God,” were given in the First Congregational Church auditorium of Willimantic for the members of the D. A. R. The hall was well filled with interested listeners who served lunch to cast after the production. This same program is to be produced in Danielson, February 14, at the Community House.

The cast is as follows:

Storrs statistics for the past week show an unaccountable cessation of hostilities on the part of Dan Cupid. There is a corresponding rise in the stocks of the scholastic market.

STARVATION FORESEEN AS SMOKE DESCENDS

Soot from a smoking oil stove caused a temporary cessation in the thriving business of the Village Book Store at the beginning of the week, resulting in some gastronomical suffering on the part of many Aggies who rely on Connie and his clerks to pass over the counter sufficient nourishment to withstand the daily grind. Not alone was the sufferer of a digestive nature, however, for the consumers of “Humps”, “Luckies”, and kindred nerve-soothers were forced to economize their own under supply, or rely on the generosity of the roommate or a brother member.

TO SMOKE OR NOT TO SMOKE

We gather the following gems from the report of a Freshman Initiate who ventured to ask fifty co-eds what their attitude was towards the vile weed.

"Smoking—a dangerous pastime in Holcomb Hall, but oh, outside a delightful diversion." "How about passing on a few for the information?"

"Etymologically and philologically speaking, I think that women should be allowed to smoke with as great freedom as men. Now that women have reached, and also passed, the station that men occupy, there is no reason why they should not be allowed to smoke if they so desire." (She has much "swank", this girl.)

"If a girl goes wild and mad, she will probably go out for a smoke." (And a very sensible thing to do, sister.)

"I think they ought to be able to do what they want to, so why not let them smoke?" (She craves freedom, poor dear.)

"Smoking by co-eds—a suppressed desire for co-eds residing in Holcomb Hall."

"I believe in co-eds smoking, as long as they clean out their pipes often enough." (Nuff said.)

"To smoke or not to smoke, That is the question, Whether or not it is honorable In the minds of the least of these To suffer the staves and reprimands Of the outraged matron." (She waxes poetic.)

"Being a sweet simple Aggie girl; I would naturally be opposed to it. (We think that she is spoofing us.)"

But we think the co-ed opinion on the whole is exemplified in the following post script, to a statement which brazenly affirms the habit:

"P. S.—My honest to goodness opinion is the exact opposite of what I have stated, but as I am a female, I always state my opinions conversely."

A boy left the farm and got a job in the city. He wrote a letter to his brother, who elected to stick to the farm, telling the joys of city life, in which he said: "Thursday we auto'd out to the country club, where we golfed until dark. Then we motored to the beach for the week-end." (We think that she is spoofing us.)

More than a million dollars a year is devoted to research by the General Electric Company in order that the giant—electricity—may be made more and more useful to mankind.

For this he was sent to prison

Roger Bacon may not have invented gunpowder, as has been claimed by some biographers of the famous Franciscan friar, but he exploded some of the outstanding errors of thirteenth century thought. Because of his advanced teachings, Bacon spent many years of his life in prison.

In an age of abstract speculation he boldly asserted the mathematical basis of all the sciences. But even mathematical calculation, he showed, must be verified by experiment, which discovers truths that speculation could never reach.

In the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company, Bacon's principles are followed in every experimental investigation. The gas-filled electric lamp and the electron tube were worked out on paper, but it was experimental verification of the underlying mathematical theory that made electric illumination, radio broadcasting and X-rays what they are today.

THE NINETY-FOUR
Someone, probably an insurance agent, was quoted recently as saying that from the mass of one hundred college graduates one individual only rose to the Polo and butler class, perilously near the top of the financial ladder. Five others became comfortably off and found themselves after twenty years at the small yacht and chauffeur stage. The other ninety-four presumably work in the factory. They have become devotees of the dollar, and when that deity deserts, have nowhere else to turn. Jammed in a dull, straight rut of business they can never leave the road and jump the fence into finer fields of life. This, then, is the American people who drive their own Buicks to the garage.

Between now and Commencement we shall have something to offer on the subject of "Careers." Watch for the space with the Famous Signature.

THE NINETY-FOUR
Someone, probably an insurance agent, was quoted recently as saying that from the mass of one hundred college graduates one individual only rose to the Polo and butler class, perilously near the top of the financial ladder. Five others became comfortably off and found themselves after twenty years at the small yacht and chauffeur stage. The other ninety-four presumably work in the factory. They have become devotees of the dollar, and when that deity deserts, have nowhere else to turn. Jammed in a dull, straight rut of business they can never leave the road and jump the fence into finer fields of life. This, then, is the American people who drive their own Buicks to the garage.

Between now and Commencement we shall have something to offer on the subject of "Careers." Watch for the space with the Famous Signature.

DR. DUNN UNDERTAKES IMPORTANT RESEARCH

REARING YOUNG CHICKS

Of Great Value to Poultrymen—Results Will Insure Decrease in Mortality and Increased Hardiness of Young Fowl Which Are Confined.

Experiments on the rearing of young chicks in confinement, that when completed will be of great value to poultrymen, are at the present time being carried on by Dr. L. C. Dunn, Geneticist of the Poultry Department. In an interview with a Campus reporter, Dr. Dunn outlined in brief the important features of the experimental work, at the same time mentioning a few of the more important results obtained.

"The object of this work is to adapt young chicks for use in laboratory experiments in genetics, physiology, and nutrition," said Dr. Dunn, "and further to study the dietary requirements of chickens and discover simple food mixtures on which chicks may be reared successfully under strict control and which may be varied experimentally to observe the effects of single items of the diet on growth. "Our results secured so far," continued Dr. Dunn, "would indicate that an ordinary well balanced diet on which chicks will grow well out of doors will not produce successful growth when chicks are confined unless supplemented by a particular vitamin which occurs in cod liver oil. Chief causes of death of confined chicks is leg weakness, which is similar to rickets in children and some animals. The vitamin of cod liver oil, known as the 'anti-rachitic factor' or Vitamin D has been found to prevent or cure leg weakness or rickets. When added to a simple ration containing a single grain and some fibre, with skim milk for drink, cod liver oil has produced successful growth of chickens from hatching to ten weeks of age with no mortality, even when chicks are confined to a small table and never get out of doors. Omission of cod liver oil from the ration invariably produced leg weakness, which was then cured by the administration of cod liver oil."

"Further," remarked Dr. Dunn, "it has also been found that the anti-rachitic factor is rather delicate and disappears, probably by oxidation, from mixtures of cod liver oil and feed which have been stored for several months. In addition to the need for this factor, it has been found that confined chicks must be fed rather bulky rations containing 10 percent or more of indigestible roughage or fibre and that direct sunlight contains some of the same curative or preventative powers which are provided by the vitamin in cod liver oil."

"Experiments are still in preliminary stages," continued Dr. Dunn, "and the effects of the other constituents of the ration are still to be measured. But it can be said now, that young chicks may be successfully reared indoors under what seem to be highly artificial conditions, and will prove to be good subjects for laboratory experiments. Practical value of the experiment is the demonstration that chicks can be reared in confinement any time of year with practically no loss, and the whatever the chicks miss by not getting out of doors can be supplied to them in the ration. The chief problems of indoor rearing are problems in feeding."

The Odds are in Your Favor

The farmer who knows no more about feeding and caring for cattle than his grandfather knew, cannot hope to compete successfully with the college trained dairyman. You are soon going to have a chance to put your knowledge of animal husbandry into practice. In the matter of feeding, you'll want to start with a safe, milk-making protein ration, built around the feeds you have known at college—BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED or DIAMOND CORN GLUTEN MEAL. They are two good productive concentrates which you'll find

FRATERNITIES FINISH INITIATION PROGRAM
Many Amusing and Novel Features Performed by Struggling Neophytes
During the last two weeks the various fraternities have been exposing their fledgling brothers to initiations. The results have been exceedingly amusing to the onlookers, but often discomforting to the victims.
Among the tasks which were imposed was the report which a tall Hibernian made of the smoking habit for girls from the statements of fifty co-eds. The result was instructive as well as highly entertaining. Another young man collected data on the students' opinion on prohibition. One unhappy initiate had to count the windows of the factories in South Willington, another hiked to the "Spoon" and back for a hamburg, and still another had to procure the signatures of all the selective in a distant hamlet, and found it a tedious task.
But what particularly amused most passers-by was the sight of a "Noble Roman" duke, dressed in the habits of an infant and sucking the nipple of a gin bottle.
Between periods of the basketball games sundry youths attempted to sing, dance, and deliver addresses. Also the dining hall and the bookstore patrons were honored on occasion by orations and dialogues.
Perhaps none escaped a hike after being dropped in remote parts of the outside world is definitely limited.
